Humphrey Wins Over McCarthy In Minnesota

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The weekend's Minnesota Democratic Convention saw Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey nabbing an expected victory over home-state foe Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy in their battle for the state's 20 at-large delegates.

The vice president's forces swept all 20 at-large votes to the Democratic National Convention Saturday night giving Humphrey 38 1/2 to McCarthy's 13 1/2 of the 52 Minnesota delegate votes to the August Chicago convention.

The Humphrey victory came after repeated appeals from state McCarthy backers for a share in the state.

All of McCarthy's delegates were named earlier by local conventions in the Minneapolis-St. Paul Metropolitan area. It was in this area that an outpouring of McCarthy backers—spearheaded by students and teachers—had helped push his presidential bid in party caucuses last March.

Corry Police Report Fatality

Paul L. Bellis, 22, RD 2, Centerville, was killed late Friday night when his car left a legislative route in Crawford County struck a rock and overturned three times.

State police at Corry said he apparently fell asleep at the wheel. His body was thrown from the car and was found about 60 feet from the wreckage. Cause of death was a broken neck, a Crawford County deputy coroner said.

Teen-ager Killed In Cycle Collision

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — An 18-year-old Lawrence County man was killed Sunday when three of five motorcycles traveling together collided while making a right turn on Pennsylvania 18 near Hartstown in Crawford County.

The youth was identified as Robert Gary Smith, of Rte. 2, New Wilmington.

Five Persons Injured In Weekend Mishaps

Five persons were injured, one of them critically, in motor vehicle accidents in Warren County over the weekend.

Harold T. Peterson, 61, 6576 Wattsburg rd., Erie, a passenger in a truck which crashed along Rt. 69 north of Warren Saturday evening was listed in critical condition at Hamot Hospital in Erie.

The truck, driven by Alan B. Thompson, 33, 101 Chapman rd., was traveling north on Rt. 69 when it was forced off the road by an oncoming vehicle and crashed into a tree, state police said.

Thompson was admitted to Warren General Hospital with chest and leg injuries. His condition was said to be satisfactory. Peterson, who received head injuries, was first admitted to the local hospital and later transferred to Hamot.

Jeanne M. Godwin, 41, 639 Pleasant dr., was admitted to Warren General Hospital Sunday morning after her car went over the curb and hit a utility pole along Pennsylvania ave. at Third ave. Hospital officials said her condition was satisfactory. Reckless driving charges were pending, police said.

Reckless driving charges were lodged against Dennis R. Peterson, 19, Olsen Trailer Court, R.D. 2, Warren, after his car smashed into a utility pole along Pennsylvania ave. near Chestnut st. early Saturday.

Police said the car hit the pole and a fire hydrant before overturning. The pole was sheared and pulled down a number of wires when it fell.

Peterson was admitted to Warren General Hospital where his condition was listed as satisfactory. Warren firemen washed gasoline from the street. One person received slight injuries in a three-car chain reaction accident on Pennsylvania ave. at Water st. Sunday morning.

Cars operated by Clare Belle Beaver, 63, 397 Red Bird rd., N. Madison, Ohio, and Frank Evan, 48, RD 2, Waterford were stopped in a line of traffic, police said, when a third car, driven by John Miczo, 54, 2408 Plum st., Erie, ran into the rear of the Evan car sending it into the Weaver vehicle. Elizabeth Miczo, 53, a passenger in the Miczo car was injured but not treated.

Voter Registration Booth To Be Set Up in Post Office

To mark the issue of the new six-cent postage stamp, "Register and Vote," the lobby of the Warren post office will be the scene of a nonpartisan voter registration booth, Postmaster Frank A. Fago announced today. Next Friday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. there will be official registrars on duty for the convenience of those who wish to register. Postmaster Fago praised the Warren county commissioners for their enthusiastic support of the plan, since it is on their orders that the registration clerks will function. Among the local nonpartisan groups which are especially pleased with the special registration day June 28 are the Warren County Chamber of Commerce and the League of Women Voters. The chamber, through its Education committee, expects to spread the word that a convenient place to register to vote can be found at the post office Friday. The League will have its booth near the registrars to provide helpful information on registration rules.

Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson directed the Warren post office to participate with nonpartisan organizations in an effort to sponsor a voter registration drive. In designating next Friday for the drive Postmaster Fago said he planned to issue the new stamp and continue its sale regularly. The words "Register and Vote" are printed in black ink on a Giori press, while the eagle in gold is printed by offset. The stamp was designed by M. Halberstadt of San Francisco. Norman Todhunter of the Citizens Stamp Advisory Committee and Bill Hyde collaborated on the design.

"We are very hopeful that Warren residents will take advantage of this opportunity to register downtown at a convenient spot," said Mrs. T. K. Stratton, president of the League of Women Voters of Warren Area.

Of the 67 counties in Pennsylvania, authorities have reported that Warren is near the bottom of the list in voter registration. However, the recently enacted law which provides that persons may register after only 90 days of residency in the state and 60 days in their voting district may improve matters. Urging friends and neighbors to make sure they are registered is suggested. Unless one's name or address is changed one need not register again—unless one fails to vote at least once during two consecutive calendar years. The requirement of age is 21 years by the day before election, which is November 5 this year.

France Rallies Strongly Behind DeGaulle in Elections

PARIS (AP) — France rallied strongly behind President Charles de Gaulle in first-round National Assembly elections Sunday. His supporters gained seats just a month after a massive labor-student upheaval had raised the possibility that the 77-year-old soldier-statesman would resign.

With Gaullist gains rolling in from all over the country, partial returns indicated that the president's party and its allies would have a solid majority in the new 487-seat parliament. Gaullists scraped through the national elections 15 months ago with 244 seats, a majority of one.

At least 130 Gaullist candidates were declared elected, compared with only 62 on the first round of voting in 1967. Runoff elections were scheduled next Sunday, under a system in which candidates need a majority of votes cast to win in the first round but only a plurality in the second.

Unofficial calculations based on about 30 per cent of the 28.3 million registered voters gave the Gaullist Union for Defense of the Republic and its allied independent Republicans 44.39 per cent of the vote. The two parties had 37.7 per cent in 1967.

The Communists, De Gaulle's major opponents on the left, showed a loss of about 3 per cent in the incomplete returns. They could expect some help from results in Paris, where the polls closed later than in the provinces.

De Gaulle had put the government's future on the line by dissolving the National Assembly. His tenure as president was not at stake.

He told the country that the voting could lead to a cure of the nation's social ills or prove that "all is lost."

Frenchmen turned out heavily to vote. In nearly every district, the results seemed the same: Gaullists were running better than in 1967, their opponents were behind.

The returns indicated that De Gaulle had lost none of his political magic, despite the outburst of social discontent that brought on the May-June student riots and general strike by 10 million workers.

A backlash of fear from the riots and monster anti-De Gaulle demonstrations by workers may have helped the cause of the 77-year-old president, in office since 1959.

Further, Abrams said, "there was no evidence" of North Vietnamese helicopters operating in North Vietnam's lower panhandle area above the zone between the two Vietnams.

The general's remarks were the latest in a week-long controversy that began with unconfirmed reports of enemy helicopters being shot down in the zone area the previous weekend.

Vietnamese military sources had said possibly a dozen choppers were shot down. The South Vietnamese commander in the northern provinces, Lt. Gen. Hoang Xuan Lam, said six choppers were downed. While Lam said he believed some of the enemy choppers — possibly Soviet-made MiGs — were down below the zone, it was never reported that any wreckage was recovered.

U.S. and Vietnamese troops along the line said they often saw moving lights at nights which they took to be helicopters.

Late last week, U.S. sources said it was "highly probable" that American fighter-bombers and artillery mistakenly fired on five allied ships after they gave the appearance on radar scopes of being low-flying helicopters.

Abrams' remarks may signal the readiness of the U.S. Command to shed light on the confused situation. The command is expected to release the findings of its investigation soon.

Victory Apparent for Trudeau In Canadian Election Tuesday

TORONTO (AP) — All signs point to victory for Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's Liberal party in Tuesday's national election. The main question being asked by Canadians is whether the margin will be enough to give the country a majority government.

The campaign ends on a note of rising Liberal optimism caused by favorable showings in public opinion polls and in assessments by political experts. Major polls indicate the 48-year-old bachelor prime minister has considerably more popular support than Lester B. Pearson had when he led the Liberals to victory in 1963 and 1965.

Analysts warn, however, that the popular vote is not necessarily decisive in Canadian elections since it is a question of which party elects a majority of the 264 members of the House of Commons. Even so, some experts guess that the Liberals will win from 140 to 160 seats. This would result in the first majority government under the Liberals since Louis St. Laurent, another French-Canadian leader, was swept into power for the second time in 1953. The last Pearson government had 128 seats at the time Parliament was dissolved April 23. The Conservatives had 94, the New Democratic party 22, and the rest were scattered.

Trudeau called Tuesday's election three days after he became prime minister upon Pearson's retirement April 20. His objective was to seek a vote that would end the minority rule and give him a strong mandate as head of the government.

The campaign has stirred more than usual interest because both parties are led by newcomers to the national political scene after four contests between two veterans, Pearson and Conservative John Diefenbaker.

'Poor People' Overstay Official Welcome in Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — The permit for the Poor People's Campaign shanty town ran out Sunday night and the federal government said it will not be extended.

Protestors at the Resurrection City camp site near the Lincoln Memorial voted to remain in the face of whatever force the government may choose to use.

A spokesman for the Interior Department, under whose jurisdiction the camp site comes, issued this statement:

"No further extension is being granted of the permit for camping on federal property issued May 10 to the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC).

"The permit expired at 8 o'clock tonight under terms of an extension granted June 14."

"The Department of the Interior called on SCLC to vacate the camp and to make arrangements with government officials for the necessary dismantling and restoration."

The government took no immediate steps to evict the protestors.

The passing of the deadline moved the campaign toward the first confrontation with the government by encamped protestors in the nation's capital since 1932 when troops drove the bonus army marchers out of the city.

The Interior Department spokesman noted in his statement that the agreement for use of the camp site "provides that a limited period of time may be necessary for dismantling structures and restoring the site."

How long this period of time might be was not immediately indicated.

Poor People's leaders and followers have said repeatedly they will not abandon the tent-like plywood settlement until the campaign goals are met for more jobs, better housing, and an end to hunger in America.

The camp was calm at nightfall, in contrast to the tear gas fustilade, the robbery and shooting of a white visitor in the shantytown Sunday and a growing atmosphere of disorder since the mass rally by 50,000 supporters Wednesday.

Seven Penn Central Cars Leave Rails; Several Injured

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Seven cars of a Penn Central train derailed at nearby Landsville Sunday, injuring several passengers.

Newsmen at the scene said the injured did not appear to be seriously hurt. Ambulances took them to hospitals in Harrisburg and Lancaster.

The train was the Penn Central's Broadway Limited, westbound from New York to Chicago.

Some of the passengers told newsmen the train "began to sway violently" before skipping the tracks in Landsville, about six miles northwest of Lancaster.

The tracks parallel the little town's main street. Several ambulances sped to the scene after the mishap, and began taking the injured to hospitals. Some were taken to Harrisburg Polyclinic Hospital and others to Lancaster General Hospital.

Identities of the injured were not immediately known.

Several fire companies were summoned to the scene, but there appeared no imminent danger of fire.

The train reportedly had eight passenger cars and 13 cars over-all. The cars all remained in an upright position after leaving the tracks, newsmen reported.

Lancaster is about 65 miles west of Philadelphia in southwestern Pennsylvania.

'Luv,' Comedy by Schisgal, Opens Tuesday at Playhouse

"Luv" a three-character comedy by Murray Schisgal, Warren Summer Theatre's second offering of the season, opens Tuesday at the Plowright Playhouse.

"Luv" is a farce about three people whose lives lack love. It parodies current notions of love, marriage and divorce in an entertaining manner.

The female role, Ellen Manville a girl whose knowledge of love is mostly theoretical, will be played the first week by Marge Melnick, a native of Teaneck, N.J., and a senior at the University of Connecticut. Marge has a broad background in college theatre and summer stock. She played the role of Nanette in "Make Mine Mink" last summer at the Rabbit Run Theatre in Ohio. She will direct "The Death and Life of Sneaky Fitch", a Plowright production scheduled for later this summer. Ellen Abrams, who just completed two weeks as Marie in "Come Back Little Sheba" will play the part of Ellen for the second week. Ellen is from Scranton and is a student at Boston University.

Two men familiar to theatre goers in Warren will round out the cast—Al Hulse who appeared in "The Subject Was Roses" at Plowright Playhouse last year and Bill Odell, a veteran, local actor.

Curtain time Tuesday will be 8:30 p.m. Tickets are available at the door but a reservation by phone is necessary for a sure seat.

Plowright Playhouse is reached by driving out Hatch Run rd., Fifth ave., Jackson ave. or Cobham Park rd. All lead through Scandia to the theatre ten miles from Warren.

Rotarians to Hear Pioneer Radio News Analyst

Col. Jim Healey, pioneer radio news analyst, will speak to the Warren Rotary Club at noon today. He is a presidential elector, historian, newspaperman and humorist.

Healey was the first news analyst heard on radio from New York State. The pioneering program was initiated over Radio station WGY Schenectady in 1928. WGY was the third radio station in America to be licensed, and the first to regularly air news analysis programs.

Healey's program was sponsored by the Albany, N.Y., Times-Union.

A veteran of World War I, Col. Healey joined the staff of the Times-Union in 1919. On that newspaper he served successively as police reporter, city editor, then legislative correspondent. It was nine years after he began as a reporter with the Times-Union that he was assigned to the radio spot.

The young commentator realized the tremendous potential in radio, and in 1947 became principal stockholder, president and general manager of Radio Station WOKO in Albany. In 1950 he was elected president of the Union Broadcasting System. Five years later Healey disposed of his radio holdings. He wanted to devote his time to traveling and lecturing.

Warren Rotary president-elect Everett Borg assures Rotarians Healey will provide an exceptionally interesting and entertaining program at today's Rotary session at noon at the Blue Manor.

Fate of New City Hall To Be Decided Tonight

JAMESTOWN, N.Y.—Jamestown City Council will decide at its meeting tonight whether or not a new city hall will be built.

A resolution on the council agenda would, if approved, authorize the issuance of $4.7-million in serial bonds to finance the construction of the proposed new municipal facility.

The city hall issue has been the subject of considerable controversy for several years. The previous administration of Mayor Fred H. Dunn had retained the architectural firm of Howard and Dominici to draw up plans for the new structure. After the plans were submitted at a public hearing last summer, working drawings were authorized by the city council.

The all-Republican administration upon assuming control of the city last January undertook a major revamping of the plan. Led by veteran councilman Warren Erickson who described the original plans as "too excessive" the council made several revisions including the addition of a central fire station which was originally planned for a separate facility.

Another resolution on the agenda would, if passed, permit the issuance of $175,000 in serial bonds to finance part of the paving program on Falconer st.

Injured On Route 666

Two cars collided head-on on Rt. 666 east of Trueman in Forest County Sunday night injuring four.

A car operated by Randy Lee Shaw, 19, Kelleetville, was attempting to pass a car on a curve, state police at Tionesta said, and collided with an oncoming auto operated by Richard C. Ott, 46, 118 Taylor ave., Ridgway.

Ott's daughter, Virginia Mae Ott, 14, suffered head injuries when her head struck the windshield. She was admitted to Elk County Hospital at Ridgway. Shaw and his wife, Alice, 16, were treated at Warren General Hospital and released.

Sci-Tech Bookmobile To Be Here

The Sci-Tech Bookmobile of the Pennsylvania Technical Assistance Program (PENNTAP) will be in Warren County next month through the arrangements of the Warren County Library.

PENNTAP, organized as a result of the Federal State Technical Services Act, uses the bookmobile to disseminate existing scientific, engineering and management information to business, commerce and industry.

Arrangements are under way by the library and the Warren County Chamber of Commerce to contact all local businesses, industries, service clubs and interested individuals and schedule visits while the bookmobile is here July 15-26.

The purpose of PENNTAP is to promote commerce and encourage state and interstate programs to place the findings of science usefully in the hands of American enterprise. It does not support research projects or conduct surveys in any way. Information concerning current research is made available to those who can apply it. The bookmobile, staffed by a librarian, carries numerous books, periodicals, trade catalogs, standards and specifications currently available.

A visit may be scheduled by calling Mrs. Georgia Coyle at the Warren Public Library.

State Begins Career Program

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State is beginning a Commonwealth Career Program to provide jobs for the unemployed and trained personnel for state institutions, Gov. Shafer says.

Program plans call for the Department of Public Welfare, Public Service Institute and Department of Public Instruction to conduct a remedial, 200-hour high school equivalency course for trainees lacking a high school education, Shafer said Saturday.

During training, the 740 trainees would have their choice of 185 full-time positions in 13 state institutions.

The program is the first such work-training plan to be solely state-financed and would operate at a cost of $975,000.

The initial training courses are scheduled for Allegheny, Cambria, Dauphin, Delaware, Fayette, Luzerne, Philadelphia and Washington counties.

VOTER REGISTRATION SET FOR WARREN POST OFFICE FRIDAY

To help elect a president next November it's necessary to register to vote. Postmaster Frank A. Fago will provide space in the Warren Post Office lobby next Friday for official registrars assigned by the county commissioners. The event will commemorate the new stamp to be issued that day by post offices throughout the nation: "Register and Vote," a handsome six-cent stamp with a golden eagle design. Among the groups welcoming the convenience of this voter registration are the nonpartisan League of Women Voters and the Warren County Chamber of Commerce. Postmaster Fago shows a picture of the new stamp to Barry R. Epstein, executive vice-president of the Warren County Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. R. Pierson Eaton, public relations chairman for the LWV of Warren Area. See story on page one.

House Law and Order Group To Consider Gun Legislation

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House Law and Order Committee will consider gun legislation this week, including Democratic-sponsored measure introduced May 6 and a new bill scheduled for introduction by the Shafer Administration.

The governor announced over the weekend that the administration-backed bill would be introduced this week, and commented:

"I hope the legislature will give this much needed measure prompt consideration. We are very much in favor of strengthening our gun control laws."

The Law and Order Committee already had scheduled a meeting for Monday to discuss the gun bill introduced last month by House Minority Leader Herbert Fineman, D-Phila. Fineman has stated he would press for a discharge resolution to bring the bill out of committee if action wasn't taken soon.

Shafer said his bill would "register people, not guns," and is designed to strengthen existing laws covering the sale of firearms.

Anyone who owned a gun or ammunition would have to obtain an identification card from the State Police at a cost of $5. The card, bearing the holder's photograph, would be good for five years and would be renewable.

"You would not be able to buy, possess, transfer or sell a gun or ammunition without this card," Shafer said.

Violation of the act would constitute a misdemeanor and carry a maximum penalty of three years and/or a $1,000 fine. Nobody under 18 years of age would be authorized to deny a card to a convicted felon, a drug addict or a person mentally unsound.

An applicant for an ID card would have to submit two copies of his fingerprints to the State Police, who would have 90 days to approve or deny the application. If denied, the applicant could initiate a court appeal.

Fineman's proposed bill would require registration of all types of weapons, including rifles, shotguns and handguns.

Any strong gun control measure faces an uphill battle in the House, which adopted a resolution last August urging Congress to defeat the proposed Dodd bill on firearms control.

With sportsmen's groups expected to lodge strong opposition, it is doubtful that the legislature would have time to act on any gun proposal before the summer recess, scheduled to begin about mid-July.

Other expected action: Appropriations Bill — The $1.71 billion appropriations bill, which comprises about 80 per cent of the state's spending, is in position for a final vote.

Noble Genealogy Available At Tionesta Library

Since this is the week when Franklin, Pa., is celebrating its Centennial on becoming a city, it seems appropriate to call attention to the Noble Genealogy recently presented to the Tionesta Library. This genealogy, one of the best and most complete ever published, will permit many people in Franklin and Venango County, as well as people in Forest, Warren, Clarion and Jefferson Counties, to trace their ancestry to an early and outstanding colonial family.

If you bear the surname (or your mother, father, grandmother, grandfather, great grandfather bore the surname) of Noble, Range, Hunter, Sherwood, McArthur, Cornish, Smith, Ault, Wood, Haskell, Johnson, Sellers, Cameron, Butler or Shotts, you may be able, through checking page 555 of the genealogy, to trace your ancestry to Thomas Noble, who in Drake's History of Boston, page 331, is listed as a resident of the Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1653.

The first Noble to settle in Venango County was Mark Noble (1783-1852). Great, Great Grandson of Thomas Noble, He migrated from Westfield, Massachusetts, with his wife Susannah Bush Noble, as early as 1807, and settled on Tionesta Creek near where it flows into the Allegheny River. This district was then part of Venango County, Pa.

According to the early history of Tionesta, Venango County (now Forest County), Mark Noble was a surveyor and operator of an iron establishment. He also purchased a large tract of land and no doubt did some farming.

Mark's father, also Mark Noble (1741-1822), served in the Revolutionary War under Captain James Noble. He was in the first invasion of Canada in 1775. In all, fifty-one men from the Noble family served in the Revolutionary War. Many served in the Colonial Wars and The French and Indian War which preceded the Revolutionary War.

In 1828, Mark Noble sold five acres of his land on Tionesta Creek to Thomas B. Stoddard who built the first dam on Tionesta Creek. The dam is a short distance from the present Tionesta Dam built by the United States Government for flood control. Some remains of the old dam can still be seen.

From land records in the court house in Franklin, Pa., one deduces that the present dam is on land once owned by Mark Noble. A map showing the district as it was in 1865 shows J. Noble as the owner of the present dam site. Mark Noble willed most of his land to his sons, John Noble and Mark Noble, and it is presumed that the J. Noble on the map was his son John Noble.

Any interested person can read Mark Noble's will in his handwriting. It can be seen in the court house in Franklin, Pa.

The Noble Genealogy was compiled by Lucius Manlius Boltwood, Great, Great Grandson of Thomas Noble, first of the Nobles in America, graduated from Amherst College in 1843 and from Andover Theological Seminary in 1847. At one time he served as assistant librarian in the Congressional Library in Washington, D.C. He belonged to all the New England historical societies and was invited to become a fellow of the Royal Historical Society of Great Britain.

A copy of the genealogy was presented to the Tionesta Library by Mrs. Julia Ann Wood Smith, Granddaughter of Julia Ann Noble Wood, daughter of Mark Noble, prominent early settler of Tionesta, Venango County, now Forest County, Pa.

It's Up to the Citizen

It's up to the citizen. This is the official attitude of the persons who guide the state's conservation programs. What the citizen wants in the way of conservation is exactly what he will get in the end, is the way they look at it.

If the citizen is apathetic about the conditions that exist or arise in the course of our land management and land use patterns, he can hardly expect that directors of public agencies or our lawmakers will long maintain a high degree of enthusiasm in the searching out of means to correct or control the objectionable practices.

As urbanization and industrialization spread across the state certain stresses are brought to bear on such things as natural beauty, water quality, and the purity of the air we breathe. Do such stresses bring about objectionable conditions? Only a reaction from the citizenry can answer this question for those in a position to enforce controls if they are needed.

But along with this responsibility to guide the "decision makers," the concerned citizen has a further responsibility -- that of being well informed. An opinion can only be as good as the facts that support it.

For this reason, much of what will and can be done in the field of conservation in the future will depend on the role played by researchers and educators. These are the people who can, through providing scientific findings, new facts, and a public understanding of the problems keep our conservation thinking on the right track -- keep it from becoming outright preservationism.

Adamancy Proves Awkward

HARRISBURG — Adamancy has its good points, but oftentimes it can prove awkward and embarrassing—particularly on the bureaucratic level.

For example, for the past year or more Governor Shafer has been pooh-poohing many of the budgetary ideas proffered by opposition Democratic lawmakers (which it should be noted is the conventional pattern) regardless of who is in office, more particularly some of those advocated by House Democratic Floor Leader Herbert Fineman.

Some of these proposals have been labeled irresponsible and juvenile. "All of which brings up this interesting point:

During his running tiff with the administration's tax program last year, black-clad Minority Floor Leader Fineman recommended several changes in the business tax acceleration bills, which would have netted the state about $60 million on a one-shot basis. By passing a package of five bills, the Democratic Leader argued His Excellency would not need his entire tax program.

The Governor and his majority went ahead with their tax program anyway, ignoring the recommendations.

But last week, two of the Governor's stalwarts, Representative Jack Seltzer, Lebanon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, and Representative John Hope Anderson, York, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, introduced the same bills on their own!

The Legislative Bulletin of the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce, an excellent authority on bills effecting business, reported the introduction thusly:

"A series of business tax accelerations bills... added only one feature to a series introduced just a year ago by Fineman, when he was searching for ways to avoid new taxes by upping the take from business."

"The Republican bills would move the reporting dates for the utilities' gross receipts tax, the corporate net income tax, the capital stock tax, the corporation income tax and the mutual thrift institutions tax forward from April 30 to April 15, in order to overcome a cash shortage of the Commonwealth which sometimes delays payments to school districts. Otherwise the bills are the same as the Fineman set, even down to a couple of obvious errors in drafting."

Now, the uninitiated may wonder why Republicans went to duplicating the same set of bills, which still are in a committee headed by Mr. Anderson. The reason is that the majority in the Pennsylvania Legislature seldom permits the minority to get credit for anything, although in the case of tax bills, "credit" seems like the wrong word to use.

The bills also indicated that the Governor is seeking new revenue-producing measures that do not conflict with his pledge that he will need no new taxes to balance his 1968-69 budget. The Chamber of Commerce indicated that business was not impressed with the bills and would oppose them.

Mr. Fineman also recommended a new method of appropriating money a year ago that would free finances for immediate use. Up to now, the practice has been to appropriate the entire sum of money needed for any project in one year and to continue the appropriation until the project had finished.

But last week, His Excellency insisted the money be appropriated in a different way in the future. Appropriations for new projects that will take more than one year to complete should provide only the funds that are needed for the first fiscal year. The remainder of the money would be left to future budgets. The new system would permit smaller amounts for appropriations and would free money for other projects.

Here is the way the two systems work: In the past, if the state decided on a four-year, $500,000 project for a park, all of the $500,000 would have to be appropriated in the first year. Under the new system, if only $200,000 were to be spent the first year and $100,000 in each of the succeeding years, then only $200,000 would be appropriated for the first year. Each following year, $100,000 would be appropriated, this would free $300,000 for other projects in the first year. These projects add up to a sizable sum!

JIM BISHOP Vacation Time's Attractions

Vacation time, like love is never more attractive than just before it happens. Anticipation is beautiful; realization is slightly less. On a honeymoon, who thinks of diapers? The important factor about spending two weeks away from home is survival. A week with the children is heaven; one more and you see them for the monsters they are.

My mother spent two days ironing dresses and little suits and perspiring before the annual blast-off. My father spent one day at the bank, getting a loan, and one day cinching the straps on the suitcases. When we left, they were not on speaking terms.

After two weeks of joy, we returned with two-inch gashes in our feet, blisters, bites, food poisoning, a small fish who could float on his back in a milk bottle, mass sunburn. Our parents had held hands all through the vacation. They were not speaking on the way home.

Recovery was slow. The house smelled like the inside of a coach driver's hat. Ants had discovered a crust on the drainboard. Somebody forgot to turn a bedroom light off. My mother was obsessed with the notion that she smelled gas.

Today, the range of vacation is wider, although the characters remain the same. Daughters number three and four sent for travel brochures. They have not quite decided where I am going, but they have narrowed the field of possibilities considerably.

One is to go to Denver and fly Frontier Airlines vacation cruise around Yosemite Valley, the Rockies, Las Vegas and the Grand Canyon. This, as they explain it, would include horse-back riding, roughing it in hunting lodges, and vigorous hiking. I may mail them to Denver alone.

Another is to take a weekly cruise on the Constitution or Independence to Caribbean ports. It can be done cheaply, but what do I do with that second week? I need more than a week to recover from whatever this year inflicted on me.

Their third idea—the precious little ones—are never short of these; just money—is to spend two weeks at the Lucayan Beach Hotel on Grand Bahama Island. This is the Fish & Chips vacation; on a boat all day, on the roulette wheel all night. It can be fun if you can win at either.

I tossed in a suggestion that we could go to San Antonio and see the fabulous fair. The girls said that this would be fine if I would also take them to the Space Center at Houston. They may spend two weeks hanging in the space center of the hall closet.

My father, who has no vote but vetoes everything in case of a tie, has his own idea of a holiday. He will make two trips to the mailbox. If I could buy a 20-foot chute, he could climb out his bedroom window and slide to it. He examines the mail every morning as though someone is bound to send the ransom money.

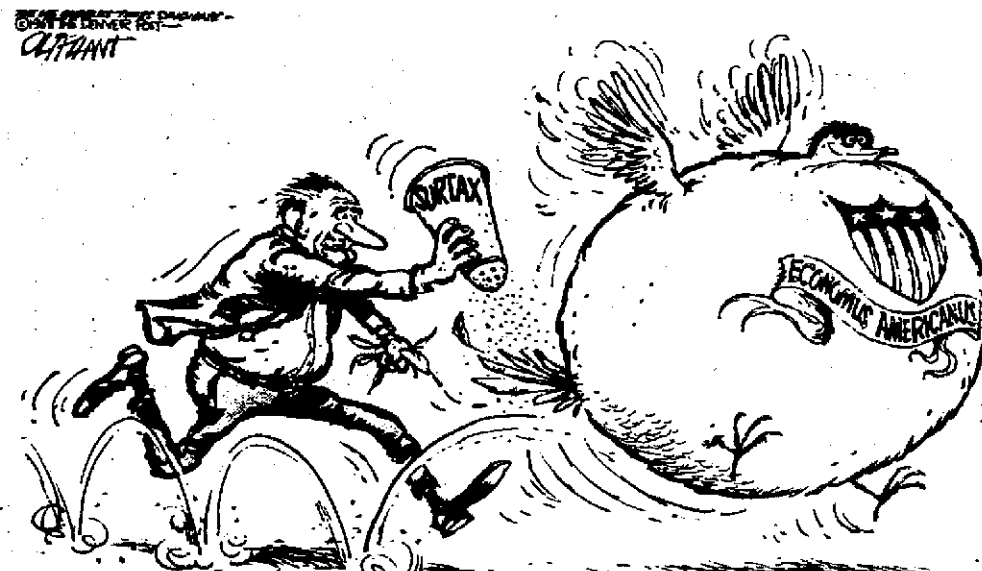

There is always the subtle notion of spending the two weeks at home. It sneaks into the mind and is rejected as heresy. The putdown is: "It isn't fair to the kids." Since when are we obliged to be fair to our flesh and blood? What, I arise to inquire piteously, have they ever done for us? It is the "in" thing to be unfair to children. We must assist them to make life harsher for them than it has been for us.

This, to coin a song title, is the impossible dream. Daughters number three and four will soon make up my mind where I want to go. Daughter Numero Uno—Virginia Lee—will hope that we will spend some time at her house with those seven little children, the four kangaroo rats, the turtles, police dog, the colony of beetles, and the roller skates at the head of the stairs.

That could be a vigorous outing. Daughter Number Two, Gayle, would like us to join her at some Go-Go joint where the dancers twist and grind all night and the guitars have their own deodorants.

What is wrong with me kidnapping my own wife and eloping to spend two solid weeks in an air-conditioned sanitarium? It may be the only way we will get breakfast in bed...

PEARSON & ANDERSON

LBJ Debates Gun Control

WASHINGTON—President Johnson has been debating whether he should go all-out for a much tougher gun control bill than the Dodd bill which bans the mail order sale of firearms and over-the-counter sales to minors.

With the temper of the public and Congress now running strong for a tough gun control bill, the White House is being advised to go for broke and reach for a gun registration bill affecting all firearms in the United States. Such key Democratic Senators as Mike Mansfield, Mont., Warren Magnuson, Wash., and Gale McGee, Wyo., have reversed themselves and come out for the toughest kind of gun legislation.

Magnuson, who was elected to the House of Representatives in 1936, the same year as Johnson, recently made one of the most dramatic speeches of the entire gun control debate.

"In 1966 there was a major gun crime committed every five minutes," he said.

"In Dallas, where guns are freely obtainable by anyone, the percentage of homicides committed by gun in 1963 was 72 per cent; while in New York, which we think of as a center of crime, the Sullivan Law, one of the strongest local gun laws, has kept the rate of murder by gun at 25 per cent.

"Among the country's ten largest cities, New York had the fifth lowest assault rate, the third lowest murder rate, and the lowest robbery rate. Perhaps more important, the New York law makes it possible for police officials to make arrests for the illegal possession of pistols before those weapons can be used.

"I know what tomorrow's mail will bring. I am ready for the angry and intemperate letters, many of them from old friends and colleagues—from many I have hunted with. But for me this has become a matter of deep conscience."

However, the White House figures that chairman Bill Colmer, D-Miss., chairman of the House Rules Committee, will hold no more hearings after July 9. Thus a tougher gun control bill might get bogged down in hearings. So the President will take gun control in two bites: The weaker Dodd bill now, and the hopes of a tougher bill later.

Most of the 100 House Republicans with whom Gov. Nelson Rockefeller breakfasted the other morning thought that Richard Nixon would be their next Presidential nominee. Their honored guest, however, exuded confidence, personal charm and determination.

"Yes, I think Dick Nixon would make a good nominee for the party and I'll support him if he wins," said the governor of New York. "But I think I would make a stronger nominee, and I'm convinced I can carry the crucial big-city vote and be elected in November."

"I realize that some of you think that I came in too early in 1964 and too late this year. But if you want a winner, why should that matter?"

Some of you also think that I'm too liberal. Let's talk about that.

"I've had a balanced budget since I became governor of New York in 1958, which is more than can be said for a number of other states. Is that being too liberal? Yes, we have raised taxes in New York, but we've also spent more money in many ways to help the poor and the underprivileged.

"We've had good programs for housing and education, and we've done this in New York largely without federal help. Do you realize that New York contributes $23 billion a year to the federal government in taxes and gets back only about $1.5 billion a year from Washington? That should prove to you that I believe in fiscal responsibility."

There is a new air about the nation's capital this summer. Washington has always been a beautiful city. It compares with Paris, Rome, or the ancient temples and palaces of Peking. But today Washington is even more beautiful.

You notice little clumps of petunias or salvia planted in unexpected triangles in front of the Cosmos Club on Massachusetts Avenue, or behind the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, or along the embankment leading down into Rock Creek Park.

Earlier in the spring the little plot of once barren ground leading to Francis Scott Key Bridge was gay with crimson tulips. The tulips have gone now and lantana have taken their place, pleading with busy commuters to slow down and admire them instead of keeping their eyes riveted on the bumper just ahead.

Members of the Austrian Embassy will tell you with pride that through the years Viennas has been ringed with flowers. And Americans who have visited Germany recall the rows and rows of red geraniums flourishing in the window boxes of Berlin apartment houses. And in Southern Europe, the streets of Bulgaria and Rumania shout with zinnias, marigolds and red hot poker.

Only in the last two years, however, have flowers really blossomed along the streets of Washington.

The reason—Lady Bird Johnson.

With no fanfare, Mrs. Johnson has quietly gone about her planting program and the results can be seen everywhere. She hasn't got as many headlines as Jackie Kennedy. The rose garden which Mrs. Paul Mellon financed at one side of the White House and which the Johnsons named the "Jacqueline Kennedy Rose Garden"—though Jackie refused to dedicate it—is now famous.

But it's Lady Bird who has really beautified Washington. She has also been trying to bring beauty to peoples' hearts. Time after time she has visited Junior Village, the city orphanage which Mrs. Kennedy so long neglected. She has visited the schools, the slums, the housing projects, gone any place where she could help bring cheer and progress.

There has been no First Lady since the days of the tireless Eleanor Roosevelt who has done more for other people than the lady whose little plots of flowers around the city would say—if they could speak—Lady Bird was here.

Wilderness and Times Square

If a Great Swamp Wilderness Area in northern New Jersey, recently recommended by the President to Congress for addition to the National Wilderness Preservation System, becomes a reality there will be a designated wilderness area within 30 miles of Times Square.

In the past, we have usually equated wilderness with remote country in the far West. It was in the western National Forests that the original wilderness area concept developed. Since then, over fourteen-million acres have been included in the National Forest Wilderness System.

With the passage of the Wilderness Act in 1964, nine million unspoiled acres have been set aside as additions to the nation's wilderness system -- but not all these nine million acres are remote from large population centers.

One of the unique aspects of the proposed Great Swamp Wilderness Area is that a piece of wild land—some 3,750 acres—could exist today within 30 miles of the heart of New York City.

The Great Swamp is a relic of the last Ice Age. Once a part of a glacial lake, it is now only a marshy remnant of a body of water that died. It was acquired by William Penn in 1687 from the Delaware Indians.

The unusual variety of plant life in the Great Swamp supports a wide range of animal species -- including white-tailed deer, mink, fox, raccoons, muskrat and other mammals. There have been 175 species of birds identified here. Stands of beech and oak, believed to be as much as 500 years old, grow here. And there is a wealth of wild flowers, aquatic plants and flowering shrubs in the Great Swamp.

The proposed Wilderness Area is now a part of the Great Swamp National Wildlife Refuge which contains 8,000 acres of natural forest, marsh and meadow.

Had it not been for the determined efforts of conservationists back in 1959, this area might have become a giant international jetport. The Port of New York Authority favored it for that purpose at that time. Instead, in 1964, it became a wildlife refuge. But the Port of New York Authority still asserts that the Great Swamp offers a prime site for a jetport.

There are many good reasons why the Great Swamp should be saved. It could become a priceless outdoor laboratory and classroom for scientists and high school students from a nearby community of 30 million inhabitants.

The Great Swamp is a natural regulator of the water supply for the Passaic River. Like all swamps it holds run-off and releases it gradually.

Located along the Atlantic Flyway, the Swamp is used by waterfowl as a resting place during the migratory season. Wood ducks nest here.

In its natural state, the Great Swamp provides a substantial area of greenery amidst the increasing congestion of megacities. It offers scenic beauty. It is a breeding ground and safe haven for wildlife from the more heavily used park and recreation areas adjacent to it.

The designation "Great Swamp" can be misleading. The area contains a variety of habitats. The Dodge unit is largely hardwood forest located well above the water table. This unit would be managed as a natural area with roads and trails restricted to foot travel. Nature trails would be maintained for public recreation and education.

The Harding unit would add a large area of wet timbered swampland. The Dodge unit and the Harding unit together would furnish a good cross section of Great Swamp ecology. Plants of the north and the south flourish here side by side.

In the northern part of New Jersey, where the Great Swamp is located, the population density is 833 people per square mile, and still growing. There will never be a better chance to retain a little bit of the American wilderness so close to where the people are. This wild environment could be a last enclave amid an urban complex.

concept developed. Since then, over fourteen-million acres have been included in the National Forest Wilderness System.

What Women Should Know

Women are now invading career fields ranging from the seemingly incredible (ordinary "seamen") to the seemingly ridiculous (chimney sweeps). We are becoming eminent in white collar professions which were closed to us until only a few years ago. We are providing our worth in blue collar occupations which have just opened up to us for the first time in history.

The reasons are not just the obvious legal bans against job discrimination on the basis of sex in the 1964 Civil Rights Act and the mounting acceptance of birth control via contraceptives. The underlying reason is the spreading scarcity of highly educated, highly trained workers throughout the nation. Because women are needed as never before in the job market, there is virtually no occupation still closed to us and women are now being actively recruited for jobs once exclusively in the domain of men.

Let's say you're a young woman considering a career in this challenging era, in which if you are typical, you will marry at age 20, raise children and still work at a job an average of 22 years. What guidance could properly give you to help you fulfill yourself as well as make a significant contribution to your family and to the national economy? This:

—Before you decide on your career, study the range of occupations now open to you. Consult your school guidance counselor on details of career opportunities and the Labor Department's comprehensive "Occupational Outlook Handbook," which describes more than 700 different careers.

—Set your career goals as high as you dare, or consider upgrading your goals within a given field you've already picked. For example, if you're thinking about becoming a nurse, ask yourself whether your might qualify for training as a nursing teacher or a medical technologist. If you want to become a secretary, consider a high-paying specialty such as medical, legal or bilingual secretarial work.

—Make a long-range plan to meet the requirements for the occupation you choose. Your immediate goal probably will be to complete college. Then, statistical likelihood is that you'll then get married and raise a family. But you can go on to specialized education, training later, or pick it up on a part-time basis while you're an active housewife. Today, nearly 100 colleges and universities, including community colleges and university extensions, offer "continuing education programs" for adult women. In some cases, class schedules are geared to the hours you're likely to be free from domestic duties.

—If you received professional training or graduate education before you married and left the labor force, do everything possible to keep that training up to date while you're homemaking. For example, keep your membership in professional associations. Subscribe to, and read, technical journals in your field. Attend any seminars or lectures in your field which you possibly can. Keep in touch with other members of your profession. Use your education and practice your skills through part-time jobs or volunteer work in your field.

—When you're free to take a full-time job, don't just "take a job." Look for work in the field in which you were originally educated or trained. If it requires more training, get it. Or if you want to start over on a new career goal, do that.

There now are 28,000 women in the U.S. labor force, of whom roughly 15,000,000 are working wives. By 1980, the number of women in the labor force is slated to leap to 36,000,000, a far greater rate of increase than expected for men.

If this labor force is to include you, prepare yourself to occupy a position in which you can have pride.

BES Office Recruiting Women for Job Corps

The Pennsylvania Bureau of Employment Security is seeking to recruit 160 young women for the Job Corps by June 30. Andrew J. Donick, manager of the bureau's Warren local office, announced today. All unemployed or underemployed youths, both male and female, 16 through 21 years of age, who are not in school are eligible for the Job Corps, Donick said, but preference in filling vacancies is given to disadvantaged youth.

"A candidate for the Job Corps need not be a school dropout," the Bureau official asserted. "She or he also may be a high school graduate who has insufficient skills to hold a full-time job in today's complex industrial society."

Established by the Federal Government through the Economic Opportunity Act (Anti-Poverty Program) to prepare youth for the responsibilities of citizenship and to increase their employability through education, vocational training and useful work experience, the Job Corps has adopted as its motto "Work—Learn—Grow."

"If you are willing to work hard, learn, and earn your own way, the Job Corps is for you," Donick declared as he advised prospective enrollees that "the Job Corps is not easy."

Job Corps members earn while they learn, the local office manager pointed out. Food, shelter and clothing are provided by the Job Corps and enrollees and their families may get up to $105 a month.

Each corpsman or woman receives $30 a month, minus taxes, for spending money. Another $50 a month is banked for each trainee. The corpsman may receive all this at the termination of the Job Corps enrollment period or may elect to have half of this plus an additional $25 a month provided by the government ($50 a month total) allotted to his wife or child during the service period and then draw another $25 for each month of satisfactory participation when he leaves.

Women who join the Job Corps are sent to one of a dozen Urban Centers where they receive remedial education as needed and are offered courses in general clerical work, typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, the operation of data processing machines and PBX switchboards, food service and beauty culture. Training also is given to qualify graduates to work as nurses' aides, licensed practical nurses and dental assistants.

Young men who enroll in the Job Corps may be sent to one of 100 rural Conservation Centers or to one of eight Urban Centers. Those assigned to Conservation Centers spend half a day studying and the other half working outdoors at such tasks as building trails, roads, campsites and fences, planting trees and clearing brush. Urban Centers offer men remedial education and training for skilled jobs such as automobile mechanics, appliance repair or data processing machine operation.

All young men and women, aged 16 through 21, who are neither in school nor employed to their fullest capabilities are urged by Donick to contact the Warren Local BES Office at 237 Penna. ave. W. for more information about the Job Corps.

JOHN BRAGA

Civil Engineer from Mass. Joins ANF Staff Here

John Braga, civil engineer, arrived last week to join the staff of the engineering department of Allegheny National Forest. He and his wife, Elaine (Bergstrom) Braga, R.N., came from East Bridgewater, Mass., where he was attending Southeastern Massachusetts Technical Institute. He was graduated on June 9, 1968 from that institution with a degree of Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering. Braga's home town is Middleboro, Mass. While growing up there he lived with his family in the same house that was the home of Daniel Webster's sister in the early 1800's. He was active in sports during his high school days in Middleboro and was on the football team during all four years of high school. While attending Southeastern he played semi-professional football. He has been assigned to general engineering work on the Allegheny Forest, and will assist in the stepped up recreation development program on the forest. The Bragas are living at 116 Water st. in Warren.

Rocky Says Way to Peace Only Through Negotiation

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Sunday he believes the only way to an honorable peace in Vietnam is through negotiations. But he said he would not condone a Communist government in South Vietnam.

"I don't think that any president of this country can agree to any settlement that is knowingly going to result in a communist government," the New York Republican said in a television interview.

"Now, I think the settlement has got to be on a basis of self-determination and the renunciation on the part of the Viet Cong of the use of force and subversion."

Rockefeller said he is in "fundamental" disagreement with his opponent for the GOP presidential nomination, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, on what he said was Nixon's view that there is no alternative to a continuation of the war.

"I think," he said, "that we're only going to settle this and bring about an honorable peace through negotiations."

Rockefeller also said he felt there should be full discussion about the war, not a moratorium because of the talks in Paris.

"I think that there should be full discussion, and we're all sophisticated enough so that we're not going to damage the negotiations, that we will not take positions that will embarrass the President," he said.

The New York governor said he did not think his statements about Nixon were divisive for the Republican party.

"I think the American people like competition," he said. "I think this is part of the whole process of democracy."

Rockefeller made his comments on the NBC television and radio program "Meet the Press." It was taped Saturday.

Rockefeller said his campaign to reach the voters, including newspaper, television and radio advertising, is costing less than $2 million. Published estimates have put it between $3 million and $5 million.

Asked if he would serve in a Nixon cabinet, Rockefeller replied, "No." But he said he would support Nixon if he wins the nomination.

Rockefeller said he has not made up his mind about appointing a successor to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, but said the appointee "will have the devotion to the basic principles that Mr. Kennedy gave his life in support of."

Stops Tormenting Rectal Itch

Exclusive Formula Promptly Stops Itching, Burning and Relieves Pain of Piles in Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): The embarrassing itch caused by hemorrhoids is most torturous. But science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to promptly stop the burning itch, relieve pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids. And all without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind.

The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other hemorrhoid formula like it. Preparation H also lubricates, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

MOM'S GOT A REPUTATION SINCE SHE GOT HER NEW FLAME.

She has a reputation as one of the best cooks in the neighborhood. And she owes it all to her handsome, easy-going new flame—a modern Gas range.

Mom, the chef, is always dropping names like Burner-with-a-Brain, and Oven-with-a-Mind and automatic rotisserie. And names like broiled filet en croute, spinach souffle, quiche Lorraine and ham mousse.

In fact, Mom's something of a show-off with her "Programmed Gas Cooking." She just puts the food into the oven, sets the time and temperature, and then goes about other business with studied indifference toward her cooking. She can afford a great show of confidence because her Gas oven will automatically stop cooking at precisely the correct moment and keep her dinner piping hot, without overcooking or drying out, until everyone is ready to eat.

Needless to say, the whole family is happy with Mom's new flame. And Mom is happy with her new reputation.

Warren Dairy Executive Named Officer of State Dealers Group

William R. Walker, President of Walker Creamery Products Co., 305 Union St., begins his second term as a vice president of the Pennsylvania Association of Milk Dealers as of July 1. He was reelected recently at the annual convention of this organization held in Harrisburg.

Mr. Walker has served as a director of the state-wide dealer group since 1957. Over the years he also has served on a number of committees.

He was graduated from the Warren High School and Pennsylvania State University in 1940 where he was a business major. He has been active in local organizations and has served on boards of the Warren General Hospital, Warren Foundation, etc., as well as being a past president of the Rotary Club and the Coneywango Valley Country Club. Mr. Walker also is the immediate past president of the Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware ice cream dealers association.

The Pennsylvania Association of Milk Dealers, in existence for 35 years has a membership of approximately 300 milk processors and dealers across the state representing about 90 per cent of the milk bottled in the Commonwealth. Its main areas of action are in the fields of quality control, public relations and education. Offices with a full time staff are maintained in Harrisburg.

The dairy industry's main concern these days, the office of the state milk dealers said, is a continued supply of milk to meet the needs of our growing population. Across the country milk production has been going down, he added, due to the loss of dairy farmers.

"Fortunately, Pennsylvania still maintains a high level of production and ranks fifth in the United States in this respect," Mr. Walker said. "We attribute this to the relative stability of our industry in this state, probably due to the effects of milk control which guarantees the farmer a fair price for his milk."

"The state of New Jersey, for example, has seen a 23.5 per cent loss in farm income from milk since 1960, whereas in Pennsylvania we have shown a financial gain of 22 per cent. As a result, we are keeping more of our farmers in business. The income from milk in this state was $315.5 million in 1960 and $385 million in 1967."

The local dairy executive indicated the main problem is keeping the youth "down on the farm". He said the high employment rate with attractive industrial wage rates is luring more and more of the farm boys out of the dairy barns and into the cities. Instead of having to milk cows seven days a week at 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. with no holidays from bossy they can enjoy the benefits of a 5 day week with paid holidays, pensions and other benefits.

"We must recognize that unless farmers are guaranteed a good price for their milk to compensate them for their investment in farms, equipment and dairy cattle, as well as their long hours of labor, we shall see milk production continuing to decrease," Mr. Walker added.

"We hear much about the price of milk. True, it is increasing but so is everything else you buy today. The thing to take into consideration is not a 10 or 20 year price comparison but checking on the 'real price' of goods—the ability to pay based on income."

"Thirty years ago the price of milk in the Warren area was about 12 cents a quart but in those days the average wage earner only made about $20 a week. Today, the average industrial wage is over $100 a week across most of the state—or about five times higher. Yet, milk has not increased to 60 cents a quart but sells for about half that, due to automation, delivery savings, and industry efficiency."

Mr. Walker looks for added problems from milk substitutes which are making their appearance in many markets across the state and which pose another threat to the dairy farmer. This, he concluded, would have a general effect on the total economy of this area and the state since more than 40 cents out of every dollar received by farmers in Pennsylvania comes from milk.

SOCIAL Wanderings
by Marion Honhart

Betty Rice -- guest columnist

From here to Harrisburg and on to Hershey provides an interesting two-day trip. At the state capitol, the usual hustle and bustle was noted with some question as to where everyone was going and what they were doing. A brief visit with State Senator Richard C. Frame in his pleasant office while the senate recessed for a caucus of the appropriations committee. Ascending the steps to the noble capitol building, a bearded one with bermuda shorts, sandals and dirty feet. And a typical sight -- girl scouts about to tour the premises.

On to Hershey and the handsome Hershey Motor Lodge with its 202 units. Guests receive maps in order to find their rooms. A new social facility opened just last week at the motor lodge most intriguing. A replica of a barn complete with loft filled with typical farm items. Milk cans, sleigh, hornet's nest (unoccupied) and further proof it's a small world. A handsome young couple and their charming three-year-old daughter from Philadelphia made themselves acquainted. Had visited Warren as guests of Jim and Audrey Torrance.

While lunching at The Hearth, one man at a table of five, heard to remark -- "Bill Rice is the new Warren County Republican chairman." Appeared to be total strangers.

Visited the famed Hershey Gardens with 14,200 rose bushes glowing in 1,200 different species.

State Police Sgt. Paul Dell, who resides in Warren, arrived from Pittsburgh and took time out to pay a brief visit and attend graduation exercises at State Police Academy.

Wish we could get away more often.

Ann Landers
Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I feel like a moron. I'm sure nobody has ever written to you about this problem because I am probably the only one in the country who is dumb enough to ask it. I am the world's loudest ironer.

My husband has been very nice about it. His shirts always look terrible and I am ashamed of myself. No matter how hard I try I can't do better. I've scorched so many collars I decided it would be better to have the iron too cold than too hot. So now his shirts look as if they have not been ironed at all.

Our daughters are growing up and I want their blouses and dresses to look fresh and crisp like the little girls they play with, but I just can't manage it.

I am getting an inferiority complex. It's awful to admit I'm too stupid to iron halfway decently when millions of women are able to do it. Can you help? -- WRINKLED IN WHITTIER

DEAR WRINK: To be a good ironer does not take brains. It takes know-how, practice and patience. Go to a friend or neighbor whose ironing you admire. Ask her to let you watch her WASH and iron. See what she puts in the wash water. Several products on the market make ironing easier. Bring your own iron along on the second visit and iron alongside her. After the third or fourth session you should be well on your way.

In exchange for the lessons you can buy her an appropriate gift or bring over a standing rib roast, a casserole of scalloped potatoes and a cherry pie.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like your opinion of a newspaper ad that made me furious. Please tell me if you think I am a sourpuss and a killjoy.

The ad says, "Don't just GO STEADY -- go PRE-ENGAGED. Buy this 14 kt. gold diamond pre-engagement ring for only $19.50."

We have three daughters, two in their teens. I am trying desperately to give my girls wholesome values. It's hard enough to keep teen-agers in line these days, with sex screaming at us from the billboards, the movies becoming wildly suggestive and every other teen-ager driving a car of his own. And now we have ads urging kids to get pre-engaged! How hungry can a merchant get?

Please reply in the paper and I will watch with interest to see if the same paper that printed the ad will have the nerve to print my letter and your comments. -- ENRAGED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: The suggestion that teen-agers should get pre-engaged (whatever that means), with a 14 kt. gold ring for $19.50 yet, is revolting. This crass attempt to drag a few bucks out of some dumb kids by suggesting that they "play house" is rock-bottom in my book.

Confidential to Frightened, Ashamed and Can't Go On This Way: Your letter indicates that you do not know what homosexuality is. Every week I receive at least a dozen letters from women who display the same kind of ignorance. Have a talk with your family doctor. I hope he will give you some reading material along with a few basic facts on married love.

Too many couples go from matrimony to acrimony. Don't let your marriage flop before it gets started. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage -- What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Nancy Rowley-David McDanel
Vows Exchanged On June 15

The Emanuel Baptist Church in Starbrick was the setting for the marriage of Miss Nancy Lee Rowley and Mr. David Paul McDanel on June 15. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rowley, 751 Yankee Bush Road, Warren. The groom is the son of Mr. Norman McDanel of 489 Follett Run Road, Warren, and Mrs. Frances Moore of San Diego, Calif.

The Rev. Howard Cartwright read the double ring rites before one hundred guests. Miss Lillian Swanson of Youngsville was organist. Soloist was Mrs. Emme Emory, and selections included "On Perfect Love" and "I Love Thee." Two large vases of white gladioli and white mums banked the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of organza made with empire bodice, modified scoop neckline, long traditional sleeves, and an A-line skirt. Her gown featured a full detachable train of matching organza edged with Alencon lace. The bodice, skirt, and train were appliqued with pearly Alencon lace motifs. Her veil of pure silk illusion was attached to a double crown of matching lace embroidered with seed pearls and aurora borealis crystals. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of daisies and white roses accented with ivy.

Miss Ethel Kershaw, maid of honor, appeared in a chiffon gown of orange ice. The bridesmaids, wearing gowns of the same style but in mint green, were Miss Anita Gray and Mrs. Dennis Blumber. They all bore cascades of daisies accented with ivy.

Acting as best man was Mr. Keith Rieder, cousin of the bride. The ushers, both cousins of the groom, and from North Chili, N. Y., were Mr. Douglas McDanel and Mr. Bruce McDanel.

The mother of the bride wore a blue organza and Alencon lace dress with matching hat. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds. The mother of the groom was dressed in an outfit of pink lace over pink satin, with a white hat. She received a corsage of white rosebuds.

Mrs. Lela McDanel and Mrs. Esther Chadwell, grandmothers, were given pink carnation corsages.

For a reception at the Penn Laurel, there was a four tiered wedding cake topped with wedding bells. The centerpiece arrangement consisted of yellow and white daisies with white mums, and among the decorations was a crystal candelabra. One hundred guests attended.

The aides were Miss Linda Gibson, Miss Barbara Bullock, Miss Susan Hixon, Miss Ellen Kershaw, and Miss Kay Johnson.

The bride was attired in a powder blue silk shantung ensemble with a white rosebud corsage for a honeymoon in San Juan, Puerto Rico. They are now at home at 184 Calle Huyke, Hato Rey, Puerto Rico.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Warren Area High School, class of 1966. The bride attended Warren Campus of Edinboro State College and was recently employed by the New Process Company. The groom is serving in the U. S. Navy, stationed in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. Jane Gustafson and Mrs. Norma Hystrom; Mrs. Sandy Blumber and Mrs. Ralph Hixon; Mrs. Nora Johnson and Miss Kay Johnson; and the Grace Missionary Circle of the Emanuel Baptist Church.

The groom's parents gave the rehearsal dinner at the Jackson Heights Restaurant. The bridesmaids' luncheon was at the Blue Manor.

GUM DISEASES ARE A GREAT PROBLEM

Nearly half of our population, between the ages of 18 and 79, suffer from inflammation of the gums or destructive gum disease. Bleeding, often a prominent sign of periodontal or gum disease, tends to diminish as the disease becomes more chronic. This is often mistaken for a sign of improvement, giving the patient a false sense of security.

REGULAR TOOTH BRUSHING IMPORTANT

This helps prevent the formation of dental calculus and plaque, a hard material which collects at the base and backside of the teeth, and is known to be a causative factor of gum diseases.

DENTISTS EASILY DETECT GUM DISEASE

Some of its symptoms are a pain in the gums, swelling, inflammation, foul breath and bleeding. Pyorrhea, trench mouth, gingivitis and Vincent's disease are all periodontal terms. If you have the least sign of gum disease you should immediately visit your dentist.

EUB Bible School Is Over

Sunday evening the Youngsville Evangelical United Methodist Church climaxed a week-long Bible School with a program presented to over 270 people. Based on the Bible school theme, "God's Word, Today's Hope," the program's format was a "TV Special."

Mrs. James Thompson, Bible school director, entertained all the teachers and helpers for lunch on Tuesday. Besides thanking the faculty members, Mrs. Thompson used the occasion to evaluate the school and make plans for 1969.

The average attendance for the five sessions of Bible school was 164, in classes conducted for children 3 to 14 years old. Daily offerings for missions totaled $62.

Twenty-five faculty members included Mrs. Donald McKinney, director of singing, Miss Darlene Loomis, missionary story teller, and Mrs. Robert Green, supervisor of crafts. Nearly two hundred participated in a picnic at Wilder Field at the close of the Friday session.

MR. AND MRS. LARRY LUDWICK

Adriane Gurak Wed June 15 To Larry Martin Ludwick

Miss Adriane Gurak and Mr. Larry Martin Ludwick were united in marriage in St. Bernard's Church in Raritan, N.J., on June 15. The Rev. James Mackenzie officiated, assisted by the Rev. John Infanger, in the presence of one hundred guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Gurak, 805 Ashton Street, Raritan, N. J. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Ludwick of Sugar Grove.

John B. Nolan was soloist during the ceremony, and Mrs. A. L. Weiden played the organ. Gladioli, pompons, and carnations ornamented the altar for the double ring ceremony.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk peau de chamois with a lace-trimmed bodice and a Sabrina neckline. The bell skirt was embroidered with lace and sequins. The detachable train was edged in matching lace. Her three-tiered bouffant veil was held in place by a crown of matching lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white roses and carnations.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Isidoro Sabatino of Montclair, N. J. The bridesmaids were Miss Valerie Anne Gurak, sister of the bride; Miss Kathleen Ludwick, sister of the groom; Mrs. Thomas Huang of Urbana, Illinois; and Mrs. F. Vinton Smith, Neptune, N. J. They were gowned alike in Nile green empire styled dresses and carried cascades of green and white carnations.

Mr. Robert E. Zimmerman of Grafton, Ohio, was best man. Ushers were Alan E. Ludwick, brother of the groom; Douglas T. Gurak of Madison, Wisconsin, brother of the bride; Mr. John B. Nolan, Lakewood, Ohio; and Mr. Dennis C. Hensley, Williamsburg, Virginia.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Gurak chose a hot pink crepe A-line sheath with matching accessories. She had a corsage of white gardenias. The mother of the groom was attired in a powder blue sheath with white accessories. Her corsage was of white roses.

Mrs. Frank A. Sefchik, and Mrs. Harry A. Ludwick, grandmothers, both were given white carnation corsages. Seventy-five guests attended the reception at the Far Hills

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
May I suggest a hint that I've found absolutely terrific for a teething baby?
First fill a sterilized nipple with water from the baby's bottle. Then put the nipple down in a small glass and put it in your freezer. You'll find that the nipple, when frozen, makes the greatest teether imaginable!
Just put the hard nipple back on his baby bottle and let your youngster chew away.
Renee M.

You are so right, Renee. The nipple is as hard as a rock to begin with and as the bottle itself contains no frozen water, it isn't too cold for the baby's hands.
Thanks for your great suggestion.
Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
Before I buy a new appliance or any of the many wonderful conveniences that are on the market today, I give it this test.

How often will I use it?
Where will I store it?
How difficult will it be to keep clean?

AND how heavy is it to lift or carry about?

I buy all the lightweight items I possibly can.

Think of the energy women use lifting, carrying and moving things (furniture excluded) about the house.

Mrs. W. B.

DEAR HELOISE:
I buy large, very soft paper napkins for my boys and husband to use as everyday handkerchiefs.

I find this a perfect solution for lost cotton ones and a tremendous saving on laundry work. They are sturdier and larger than regular tissues and my menfolk prefer them.

I save their good linen handkerchiefs for church and other special occasions.

Emily L.

DEAR HELOISE:
For those who have bamboo fishing rods with wrappings, try wiping some paste wax along the pole.

It is a wonderful preservative for fishing tackle. Sure protects it from salt water attack.

Another thing I learned was to use spray wax on all metal joints. Makes the rod easier to assemble and take down and also protects it.

Lucile

DEAR HELOISE:

Plan Sunday School Session

A series of special programs has been planned for children at Trinity Memorial Episcopal Church during the summer Sunday School session.

A number of excellent films have been procured from the Carnegie Library in Pittsburgh, according to the rector, the Rev. Richard H. Baker. They will be shown in the Parish House during the late (10 a.m.) service.

Members of the parish are taking turns acting as teachers. The summer Sunday School program is an expansion of one started last year. Emphasis this year will be in getting the children involved in discussing inter-human relationships.

Following the showing of the films, the youngsters will be divided into three groups -- pre-school, primary (grades 1-3), and intermediate (grades 4-6). There will be an activity period appropriate to the film and the children's interest.

The first series of films will deal specifically with inter-human relationships. The second will expose the children to people with various racial and national backgrounds. The third will be an imaginative series designed to stimulate young minds and produce some real thinking.

The rector also announces that a Vacation Bible School is being planned for August. Details will be provided later.

When we camp, we usually cook over a wood fire. This, of course, makes our pots and pans very black on the outside and can cause a lot of tire-some scrubbing.

A simple way to prevent this is to rub a layer of liquid dishwashing detergent over the bottom and sides before placing it on the fire.

When you have finished cooking, the soot will wipe off with a wet cloth quick as a wink!

Pioneer Girls Hold Banquet At First Baptist

The third annual banquet and encampment of Pioneer Girls was recently held at the First Baptist Church with mothers, pals, and 21 Pioneer girls attending. Mrs. Robert Gannoe is the Pioneer Girl Guide, assisted by Mrs. Marlin Neel.

Mrs. Howard Faulkner acted as mistress of ceremonies with Mindy Maier giving a toast to the mothers, Beckie Logan a toast to the pals, and Mrs. Robert Crummins a toast to the girls. Mrs. Elmer Mellander presented the opening prayer. Mrs. Carl Whipple gave a talk about her missionary experiences, and of the people and countries she visited.

The girls were awarded badges for achievement in various skills including Christian Life, Fancy Cookery, Handy Girl, Household Care, Baby-Sitting and Needlecraft. Four girls earned the Trailblazer rank, two the Pathfinder rank, and two the Homesteader rank.

Pioneer Girls honored were Mindy Maier, Beckie Logan, Nancy Sorenson, Linda Mellander, Sherrie Way, Debbie Conter and Carla Ellberg.

An interdenominational program with Christian emphasis, Pioneer Girl programs are active in churches of over twenty denominations in the United States, Canada and foreign countries. Each girl is assigned a "pal" or adult Christian woman as a prayer partner. The pal prays for her girl, befriends her, and keeps a personal contact with her. The pal also helps with various Pioneer Girl activities.

The aims of the Pioneer Girls are to train girls in effective Christian leadership and service; to encourage girls to develop well rounded lives and Christ-centered personalities; to train girls in good habits of Christian living; to encourage girls to explore the Christian teachings for herself, applying them in her everyday life; and to lead girls to accept Christ as their personal Savior.

MRS. ROBERT T. MILEY

Miss Gail Cavender Marries Robert Miley in Harrisburg

On June 22 Miss Gail Cavender of Elizabethtown, Penna., became the bride of Mr. Robert T. Miley in the Unitarian Church of Harrisburg. The Rev. Mr. L. M. Hamby performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Maury Tucker and Mr. D. R. Cavender of Charleston, W. Va. The groom is the son of Mrs. Laurence E. Miley and the late Mr. Miley of Sheffield, Pa. Miss Donna Ake, of Elizabethtown, Penna., was the organist. The altar was decorated with vases of white snapdragons and baby's breath.

The bride appeared in an ivory linen gown, featuring an empire waist and scoop neckline. Scroll lace trimmed the gown. She wore a floor length mantilla, which formed the train, and carried a bouquet of gardenias and ivy.

Mrs. Gary Wray of Dover, Delaware, was matron of honor, wearing an aqua floor length jakarta gown styled with an empire bodice and a square neckline. Her gown had an A-line skirt and was accented by a full panel effect in back and double rows of covered buttons on the bodice. Her headpiece was a cluster of tulle petals and leaves with a matching butterfly veil.

The best man was Mr. Larry Miley, brother of the groom, of Central Valley, Penna. Mr. Wendell Cavender of Charleston, W. Va., brother of the bride, and Mr. James Dugar of Athens, Ohio, served as ushers.

A reception was held in the Holiday Motor Hotel immediately following the ceremony.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Miley will be spending the summer in Beach Haven, N. J. In the fall, both will be employed by Alfred I. du Pont Schools in Wilmington, Delaware.

For travelling, the bride chose a sleeveless two-piece black and eggshell white costume which had a pleated skirt and an overblouse top. She wore black patent accessories.

The bride, a graduate of Morris Harvey College in Charleston, W. Va., taught in the Lower Dauphin School District, Hummelstown, Penna. Her husband is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University and is a former navigator in the U. S. Air Force.

Pre-nuptial affairs included a shower given by Mrs. William T. Bunk of Warren, and a personal shower given by Mrs. Gary Wray of Dover, Delaware.

Merger Brings New Wesleyan Church

The Wesleyan Methodist Church and The Pilgrim Holiness Church will merge at a conference in Anderson, Indiana, held from June 25-30. This conference will mark the consummation of negotiations between two denominations which believe alike on all essentials of doctrine. Both churches are committed to spreading the Wesleyan message throughout the world.

At various times in the past, merger between The Pilgrim Holiness Church and The Wesleyan Methodist Church has been proposed and studied. Then, in 1962, the General Conference of The Pilgrim Holiness Church took action, expressing interest in uniting with The Wesleyan Methodist Church. In 1963, the Wesleyan Methodist Church's General Conference was ordered to pursue work on uniting the two.

On June 15 and 16, both churches adopted the Basis for Merger and Constitution, and the formation of the Wesleyan Church was authorized. The General Boards of both churches are now working together in planning the unified General Conference, and the new Book of Discipline for its consideration.

The merger will make the combined Sunday school enrollment over 300,000. Membership in the united Church will total 112,340. The two denominations also bring together eleven educational institutions with a current enrollment of 3,196 students.

The World Missions operation will work on every continent, providing the services of evangelism, education, nursing, animal husbandry, agriculture, homemaking, and professional medicine.

Open Church

Miss Kathy Steffens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Steffens, and Mr. Larry Stufflebeam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stufflebeam, are to be united in marriage on Saturday, June 29, 1968, at 2 p. m. at the Evangelical United Brethren Church in Grand Valley.

The couple would like all friends and relatives to attend the ceremony and the reception immediately following in the church fellowship hall.

Steel Negotiators Grapple With Crucial Issue: Money

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Negotiators trying to fashion a new contract for the steel industry begin grappling Monday with what both sides say is the crucial issue: Money.

Negotiations have been going on at the local and company levels since April, but Monday is the day the teams that have been scattered across the country move to Pittsburgh for discussion of economic issues and other issues that couldn't be settled at the local level.

The United Steelworkers Union has yet to put a price tag on the wage package it wants for its 450,000 members in basic steel.

So far it's used words like "substantial" and "whopping" in describing wage increases it wants.

Industry negotiators have said they can't accept the settlements of 6 per cent and more that the union earned from the copper, can and aluminum industries earlier this year.

The two sides have until Aug. 1 to resolve their differences. Industry sources, who have said they wouldn't be surprised if the union asks for a 9 per cent wage hike, say the industry is so busy fighting foreign imports, dwindling profits and competition from steel substitutes that it can't possibly agree to a big wage hike.

The Steelworkers, who accepted a 3.7 per cent increase after both sides were called to the White House during the 1965 negotiations, point to wage hikes earned by other unions and rising living costs as justification for a big raise.

Steelworkers earn an average of $3.67 an hour. But the company says fringe benefits fix the cost at $4.88 an hour.

The financial pressure on the steel industry, which has endured six strikes since World War II, was pointed up recently when Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc., a Dallas, Tex., conglomerate, offered to acquire Jones & Laughlin Corp., the Nation's No. 6 producer.

Investors offered Ling-Temco 8 million shares of stock — 3 million more than the conglomerate needed.

U.S. Steel Corp., for one, has started diversifying into real estate, chemicals and other fields in an effort to make its earnings reports more attractive to investors.

Sales and Use Taxes Largest Source of Revenue

PROCESSING TAX RETURNS

$106...$107...$108...$109...$110 million will be received and processed by the Bureau of Taxes for education during the period of June 17-30. Two clerks employed in the mail receiving section, Mrs. Ruth Gelmetta and Mrs. Susanna Intrerie, open and sort a portion of more than 150,000 sales and use tax returns from retail businesses in Pennsylvania.

Warner M. Depuy, Secretary of Revenue announced today that sales and use taxes which are earmarked for public education, represent the largest single source of revenue in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Depuy stated that more than $110 million will be received and processed by the Bureau of Taxes for education during the period June 17 to June 30, 1968, with the receipt of more than 150,000 sales and use tax returns from retail businesses in Pennsylvania.

Depuy further said, "receipt of this amount of tax revenue within a two-week period, which is much larger than the average monthly collection of $56 million in taxes for education, requires special handling."

In order to process this large volume of work, (about four times normal workload) all available employees within the Bureau of Taxes for Education, including clerks, secretaries, examiners, and supervisors are placed on the job of opening and sorting incoming mail. The processing section employees begin their work day during this peak workload period at 7 a.m. and work until 6 p.m. They worked a full day on Saturday and Sunday, June 22 and 23.

The reason for this heavy volume of work is a specific clause in the sales and use tax law which requires that taxes collected during April and May normally would be paid in July, but must be reported and paid in June. This clause was originally placed in the law by the legislature in 1961, to have the taxes collected during a fiscal year reported and paid in that same fiscal year which ends on June 30.

169 Killed By Guns In Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A total of 169 persons have been killed by guns in the United States since midnight last Sunday, an Associated Press survey showed Sunday.

Of the total, 93 were homicides, 62 were suicides and 14 were the result of gun accidents.

Chicago had four homicides Saturday night, including that of a murder suspect who was killed in a shootout with police.

Another Chicago man was shot with the pistol he used as a security guard. A woman with whom he had been living was charged in the shooting.

Police commented the shooting was "just one of those circumstances where a gun is too readily available."

In Louisiana, 10-year-old Frederick J. Nehrbrass III of Lafayette died Saturday of wounds received Wednesday when he was accidentally shot in the head while playing with a target pistol.

According to FBI records about 6,500 Americans were slain by guns in 1966, the last year for which figures are available. This would make an average of 125 homicides a week.

The FBI reported homicides, including stabbings and stranglings, totaled 10,920 in 1966.

The assassinations, all by fire arms of President John F. Kennedy, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy have caused widespread demands for tight gun control laws.

Gun control provisions were included in the omnibus crime bill signed Wednesday by President Johnson. Stronger laws are being considered by Congress.

Local Girl To Enter Pgh. Hospital

Miss Jodi Ann Brecht, 6½ year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Brecht, R.D. 1A, Russell, will enter the Allegheny General Hospital in Pittsburgh, Pa., on June 22, 1968 for surgery. Her friends may write to her at Allegheny General Hospital, 320 East North ave., Pittsburgh, Pa., 15212, till 9 p.m.

Saturday the only activity scheduled is Family Night with the YMCA facilities available for family groups from 5 p.m. till 8 p.m.

Home Loan Requirements Eased for Veterans' Widows

Recent changes in the G.I. home loan program should make it easier for thousands of remarried widows to get G.I. home loans, Alvin Guyler, manager of the Veterans Administration office in Pittsburgh announced today.

Basic eligibility requirements are that the widow's husband either died on active duty or from a service-connected disability, Guyler said, and the veteran's service was during World War II or after June 27, 1950.

A new law permits the VA to guarantee home loans up to $12,500 of the loan amount but not more than 60 percent of the loan, Guyler added.

The higher ceiling on G.I. loan interest rates that went into effect recently should help those widows to get a G.I. loan from a commercial lending institution, he said.

Many eligible widows had husbands who served in World War II; under current legislation, they still have more than two years to obtain a G.I. loan — until July 25, 1970.

Entitlement for qualified widows of men who served in the Korean Conflict is not scheduled to expire until January 31, 1975.

Widows whose spouses served during the Vietnam era — or any time after January 31, 1955 — will have their eligibility expire:

(a) 20 years from the date of the veteran's death in service, (b) 20 years from the date of the veteran's discharge or, (c) March 3, 1976 — whichever is later.

Guyler said that veterans' widows who think they qualify for G.I. loans should obtain further information from the VA office at 1000 Liberty ave., phone 644-6664.

Fire Stations Close After Firemen Call in 'Sick'

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP) — Three of East Liverpool's four fire stations were closed Sunday after eight firemen called in sick, apparently in a protest for higher wages.

Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne said the downtown central station was being manned by himself and three men.

VanDyne said the Sunday morning shift "all said they were sick." This was unexpected. They did it without consulting me."

MUMPS VACCINE

Q. Now that mumps vaccine is available, should all young children be vaccinated?

A. The U.S. Public Health Service currently recommends that mumps vaccine be considered for use in children approaching puberty, in adolescents, and in adults, especially men, if they have not had mumps. The lasting effect of mumps vaccine is not known. It is reasoned, therefore, that early immunization might lead to the misimpression of life-long protection.

WHEN TO CALL DOCTOR

Q. Children often have colds and it is hard to decide if and when a doctor should be called. Any suggestions?

A. Yes, medical advice should always be obtained if a "cold" is accompanied by persistent fever, soreness on swallowing, earache, cough with colored sputum, or chest pain. Such symptoms are often associated with bacterial infection.

ORGAN TRANSPLANTS

Q. Now that human kidney and hearts can be transplanted, what's next—lungs and brains?

A. The ability to transplant vital organs from one person to another has raised profound ethical, moral and legal questions which demand answers—and soon. We shudder to think of the issues that would arise in the case of brain transplants (should this ever become possible).

Promptness, dependability and price fairness are the watchwords of our prescription department.

OEO Claims No Knowledge Of Arms Stockpiling by Gang

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Office of Economic Opportunity said Sunday it has no knowledge of arms stockpiling by a Chicago street gang which it was trying to reclaim for society with a $97,000 grant to teach its members simple job skills.

In a prepared statement answering this and other charges aired before the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee last week, OEO Director Bertrand Harding asserted senators may have been eager to level sensational criticism at the program, although he conceded the project may have failed.

"The apparent eagerness of some to accept the uncorroborated statements of a Chicago hoodlum, who was never a participant in the program, raises questions about their own credibility," said the statement.

At a committee session Friday, George Rose, a former warlord of the "Blackstone Rangers," testified that gang leaders considered the federal grant as a means of getting "some easy money" to mold the Rangers into an even more powerful criminal organization.

Rose said the Rev. John Fry, identified as the pastor of First Presbyterian Church on the city's South Side, allowed the gang to use his church to hold marijuana parties and store arms.

Fry denied this.

Rose said the arms, kept in a tunnel under the church, included sawed-off shotguns, carbines and rifles with sniper scopes. Some of the federal money was used to buy arms and put up bail bond for jailed members, he added.

Harding said Chicago police met daily with the local agency administering the program, the Woodlawn Organization, and were close to it from the start. "At no time have the police reported to the OEO finding arsenals of weapons as a result of this project," Harding said, adding that OEO on-site monitors also never disclosed evidence of weapons caches.

Harding denied also the testimony of a senate investigator, John J. Walsh, that a University of Chicago professor received $63,947 to evaluate the high-risk federal training program but had never made his report.

Harding's statement said a report was given early in the year on "progress in data collections, research design and survey formats, and a written report was issued in June and provided to the subcommittee. He added a final report is expected in October.

Harding confirmed that the government financed a $5,000 "picnic" for the Rangers but said this was done at the request of police. He said the OEO authorized a special outing on "Bud Billiken Day," a traditional one for fighting among Chicago gangs.

The outing, said Harding, was used to brief the youths on the project and how they could become a part of it.

Sen. John J. McClellan, D. Ark., chairman of the subcommittee, charged that the OEO allowed the Rangers and another gang, the East Side Disciples, to take charge of the program "to buy peace on the streets of Chicago's South Side."

Harding said it was the intent of the program to allow fullest participation by gang members themselves "to test whether the mechanisms of the gang structures could assist in shifting attitudes toward productive adult citizenship."

Walsh had testified that gang members with fourth- or fifth-grade educations were serving as instructors for those with second- and third-grade schooling. He said also that the 499 youths recruited for basic education and job training in a program goal of reaching 800, and some 254 dropped out, 83 were placed in jobs and 30 of these later quit. About 160 were in the program when it was shut down in May.

"We at OEO believe it imperative that some means be developed to reclaim these poor, hard-core youth," said Harding.

Blazes Sear 40,000 Acres In California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Foresters said Sunday an army of smoke-blackened men was making headway in the battle to suppress three rampaging fires in California's dry brushlands. One has been contained. The blazes have seared more than 40,000 acres of valuable watershed.

Largest of the three is centered 50 miles northwest of Los Angeles, in the Liebre Mountain district of Angeles National Forest. Still uncontrolled, this fire has swept across 35,000 acres despite the efforts of 1,300 men, rangers said.

Twenty miles away, in the Bouquet Canyon area of the same forest, the flames have been contained after burning 3,500 acres and the fire crew has been reduced from 450 to 150 men, a U. S. Forest Service spokesman said.

In west-central California near King City Bill Derr, forest service information officer, said the third fire is 50 per cent controlled after racing across 3,000 acres of grass and brush in Los Padres National Forest. More than 1,000 men are on the firelines, he said.

This fire started Thursday, the others Friday.

No Hope Of Averting British RR Strike

LONDON (AP) — The last hopes of averting Britain's sixth chaotic rail slowdown strike in 18 months died Sunday.

Sidney Greene, secretary general of the National Union of Railwaymen said, "Nothing can be done now" to stop a slowdown by his 270,000 members at midnight.

The state-owned British Railways slashed schedules and warned travelers that train services could no longer be guaranteed. Police in all major cities set up emergency parking lots to handle the expected glut of commuter cars.

The union is beginning the slowdown by refusing to work overtime.

A British Railways spokesman said: "Twenty-five per cent of railway work is done on an overtime basis or by rest day working. Considerable dislocation to normal services must follow, especially on the crowded commuter services in large cities."

Although the full brunt of the slowdown was not expected until the end of the week, chaos was seen as inevitable if the Locomotive Drivers' Union carries out a threat to strike this week. "It had planned to walk out July 1."

The slowdown strike climaxes a long-standing pay dispute between the two unions and the British Railways Board. Both unions rejected 11th-hour government pay offers over the weekend.

The strike-plagued railway was hit by walkouts of varying but serious intensity five times last year.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AKS ♥AKS ♦10983 ♣AKQ
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
2NT Pass 3♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Four spades. Nothing more aggressive is indicated. Your opening bid of two no trump was based on 23 points and has the infirmity of an unstopped suit, which is exceptional. Unless partner can take aggressive action on the next round, there will be no slam.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠62 ♥K642 ♦K53 ♣K842
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1♠ Dble. ?

What do you bid?
A.—Bid one no trump. This will inform partner that you have scattered values. If you choose to pass, the bidding may progress at so rapid a pace that you may never have the opportunity to enter the picture. For your values are not sufficient to justify doubling the opponents at any low contract which they may reach.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A6 ♥9 ♦AK964 ♣AK876
The bidding has proceeded:
East South

What do you bid?
A.—Double. While normally we are disinclined to make a take-out double with a hand containing two suits, no other form of action is suitable with a hand so rich in high card values. A false cue bid of two hearts cannot be accepted, first because in silence upon a game will not be justifiable, secondly, not sufficient trump support is held for spades should partner have to play that suit.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AK842 ♥AQJ3 7 ♣Q92
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1♠ Pass 1♠ Pass
2♠ Pass 3♠ Pass
3♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Four clubs. This does not indicate a desire to play at the minor suit but is rather a descriptive bid on the way to what looks like a certain slam. Your next step will depend upon the character of partner's response.

Q. 5—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠642 ♥9532 ♦AJ94 ♣Q9
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1♠ Pass 1NT Pass
2♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. If there is the least temptation to raise the hearts, it should be resisted. Partner has not indicated any special strength by his bid of two hearts. From your standpoint the hand is not impressive. Your response of one no trump was based on a high card holding of only seven points just a point above minimum. There is therefore no occasion for you to take further action.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, partner opens with one no trump, and you hold:
♠A984 ♥Q105 ♦AJ842 ♣8
What is your response?

A.—Three diamonds. You have sufficient high card strength for a jump to three no trump (12 points), but the three diamond bid is superior, for it will produce the same result with the added advantage of providing partner with the opportunity to bid three spades, if he happens to have a four card major suit, and, with the slightly unbalanced hand, a suit contract may prove to be superior.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AJ752 ♥KJ4 883 ♣AKQ
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1♠ Pass 3♠ Pass
3♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Five spades. If partner can protect against the loss of two diamond tricks, you wish him to contract for slam, and he should place that construction on your five spade bid. The Blackwood bid would not be at all helpful to you, for the sake might be there even if partner has only one ace, if he has, for example, a singleton diamond.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K10 ♥AKQJ4 ♦7 ♣J8642
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♥ 2♦ 2♥ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—There is a choice between three and four hearts, and we have a slight preference for the latter. Partner's free raise to two hearts indicates a good hand and, with the adverse overall of two diamonds, it is highly likely that partner's values will be in the black suits, which should make the hand fit very well.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR MONDAY, JUNE 24, 1968

ARIES (March 21 to April 20) — Not all things will come easily now and, as last week, you will have some important decisions to make. Make them carefully, however, and you will be in line for many benefits. TAURUS (April 21 to May 21) — Your Venus excellently positioned. Stretch your talents and abilities to cover some of the sparse areas in your field of attainment. An avocational use of your artistic talents could prove highly profitable.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) — Some reviewing called for now. Certain obstacles in your path will call for either more concentrated effort on your part or a complete revision of plan if they are to be overcome.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) — Curb emotions and a tendency to eccentricity. Tighten reins on spending, but don't scribble unwisely and lose out in the long run.

LEO (July 24 to August 23) — Avoid tendencies to procrastinate or to work sporadically. Keep eyes on your goal and, at a steady and reasonable tempo, step progressively toward it. Self-mastery needed.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23) — Especially favored now: Business interests and personal relationships. Display your efficient and amenable side and you can't help but earn credits.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23) — Venus extremely generous. You should accomplish a great deal now — especially if you are engaged in creative pursuits, as so many Virgoans are. All, however, should benefit in one way or another by day's fine influences. SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22) — Your organizational abilities should not go unnoticed now. Capitalize on past experience and use only the best of pre-tested procedures. Increased prestige indicated. SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21) — Don't look askance at those who disagree with you or express "way out" ideas. On consideration, you may find that they contain gems of wisdom. Continuing good Jupiter influences indicate a promising day. CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) — If too eager, you may overreach your mark but, if observing your limitations and maintaining a reasonable pace, you can accomplish a great deal. Be sure your path is the RIGHT one, however.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) — Auspicious influences. Manage well, interpret carefully. Don't accept ALL suggestions offered. Study carefully first.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) — Present duties quietly handled, future plans considered, everything kept shipshape may sound like a big order, and probably is. But the best part of it is, YOU CAN FILL IT!

YOU BORN TODAY are unusually vigorous and energetic; could excel in industry, finance, medicine; also as a sculptor, musician or actor. You also make a keen critic and speaker; put a touch of originality to everything you say or write. You like people from all walks of life; should have a variety of interesting friends. Protect your resources — mental, physical, monetary. Birthdate of Horatio Herbert (Lord) Kitchener, British Field Marshal; Jack Dempsey, pugilist.

EMOTIONS AND THE COLON

Emotional tension plays strange tricks. Some people blush when embarrassed or weep when depressed. Others develop abdominal pain, constipation, or diarrhea (irritable bowel), when agitated or under too much stress from overwork and constant harassment. These symptoms stem from the close relationship between the intestines and the autonomic nervous system.

Abdominal distress results from distention or spasmodic contractions of the wall of the large intestine. The bowel becomes irritable when it is bombarded by nerve impulses. Distress usually coincides with periods of emotional conflict and disappears spontaneously after the individual calms down or makes a satisfactory adjustment to the bothersome situations of life.

Most persons with the irritable bowel syndrome have pain somewhere in the abdomen. Ensuing distress may be a dull ache or "green apple" cramps that are so severe the sufferer doubles up. Relief may follow a movement, passing gas, or belching. Heat also is helpful. Still others develop constipation during stressful periods. Diarrhea, with the passage of small (nanny goat) stools, is common. Lack of appetite, nausea, and belching also occur. Cold hands, sweating, palpitation, headache, and sighing respiration may co-exist.

Best results are obtained when the psyche is treated along with the bowel. Stress situations are emphasized to help him make a satisfactory adjustment. As a rule, intermittent bowel symptoms are closely related to difficulties with a new job, marriage, or military service.

Reassurance that the person does not have cancer, appendicitis, or other organic disorders helps. Many are relieved when allowed to ventilate grievances or to work out frustrations via sports, games, or hobbies.

Medications are available to relieve spasms. In some instances, a bland diet is beneficial.

TOMORROW: Heart at 90.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

EMPHYSEMA AND BRONCHITIS

C. Z. writes: Is emphysema the same as chronic bronchitis?

REPLY

No, although many victims of emphysema have chronic bronchitis. In England, deaths from emphysema are listed under chronic bronchitis. In emphysema, there is partial obstruction of the bronchi, causing distention of the air sacs by trapped air. Chronic bronchitis is one of several origins, especially when obstruction is due to smoking and inflammation. Furthermore, it is manifested by persistent cough and accompanies a variety of lung conditions.

FUNCTION OF OPTICIAN

A reader writes: What is the function of an optician?

REPLY

An optician is able to prepare glasses according to the prescription given to the person by his physician (ophthalmologist). The optician is not an M. D., cannot do eye surgery, nor can he prescribe medicines.

TUBERCULOSIS AND MILK

T. T. writes: Will I get tuberculosis if I drink milk that is warm or hot?

Skulls Traced to Physician

BELLAIRE, Ohio (AP) — Officials have traced to a physician the seven human skulls found in a dump.

realizing the heads were in the rubbish.
The skulls were sent to Ohio State University for study.

Belmont County Prosecutor John J. Malik Jr. said Saturday that the doctor's widow had her attorney notify authorities after she read about the find.

A youth whose parents owned the dump found the skulls in a burlap bag Wednesday.

Malik said Dr. L.D. Covert, who died about six months ago, had been studying the heads, some of which were preserved.

Malik quoted his widow as saying she hired two men to haul rubbish from the shed of the Coverts' summer home, not

Lefty Bob Charles Victor In Canadian Open Golf Play

TORONTO (AP) — Bob Charles, a lean lefty from New Zealand, fought off the challenge of menacing Jack Nicklaus Sunday and won the Canadian Open Golf championship, shooting a final round 66, four under par, for a 274.

Charles, a former British Open champion and one-time banker in Christchurch, N.Z., clinched the title with an amazing approach shot on the 18th hole.

Leading the bulky Nicklaus by only one stroke, he laced his shot to the green, it bit and cut to the right, stopping 18 inches from the pin and leaving him with an easy putt for birdie.

Nicklaus, the burly Golden Bear, missed the green and set- tled for a par on the hole, a 67 for the day and second place at 276, two strokes back.

Australian Bruce Crampton had a final round 66 over the 6,792 yard, par 70 St. George Golf Club and finished third at 277.

Charles, a former British Open champion and one-time banker in Christchurch, N.Z., clinched the title with an amazing approach shot on the 18th hole.

National League

Cards, Braves Split

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Johnny Edwards drove in all three St. Louis runs with a single and triple, leading the Cardinals to a 3-1 victory over Atlanta in the nightcap of a Sunday double-header.

Cecil Upshaw's sensational relief work preserved the Braves' 5.1 victory that halted a seven-game St. Louis winning streak in the opener.

Edwards' bases-loaded single gave the Cardinals a quick 2-0 lead in the second game. Then the reserve catcher tripled following Roger Maris' single in the third for another run.

That was plenty for retread Mel Nelson, who won his first major league game since 1963 with a five-hitter.

Nelson, a left-hander, pitched a six-hitter, allowing only an unearned run in the fifth inning.

In the opener, the Braves knocked out starter Nelson Bries with a four-run first in- ning.

Upshaw replaced starter Dick Kelley with one out in the second inning and allowed only two hits the rest of the way. He re- tired the last 17 batters.

In the Braves' big first in- ning, Felipe Alou doubled and scored on Tito Francona's sin- gle. Hank Aaron then tripled and Clete Boyer singled be- tween Cardinal errors.

Jones Leads Mets Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Cleon Jones drove in four runs with a double and home run, leading the New York Mets to a 5-4 vic- tory over the Los Angeles Dod- gers Sunday.

In the fourth inning Ken Bos- well singled and raced home on Jones' double against Dodger starter Bill Singer. One out later, Art Shamsky doubled for New York's second run.

In the fifth, Bud Harrelson singled with one out and Bos- well followed with his second hit. Then Jones smashed his eighth home run of the year, giving Nolan Ryan a 5-0 lead.

Ron Fairly hit his third home run of the year in the seventh inning and the Dodgers knocked Ryan out in the eighth when Ken Boyer's pinch single drove in two runs. Ted Savage added a solo homer for the Dodgers in the ninth.

Lemaster Takes Hiis

HOUSTON (AP) — Left-hand- er Denny Lemaster survived two early jams and Rich Allen's 14th homer but needed ninth in- ning help from Fred Gladding in hurrying the Houston Astros past Philadelphia 7-4 Sunday.

Lemaster, 7-6, stranded two base runners in the first inning, pitched out of a bases-loaded jam in the second and yielded two runs, including Allen's third homer in two games, in the third before settling down.

He was lifted in the ninth af- ter giving up singles to Cookie Rojas and John Callison. Glad- ding struck out Allen, gave up a run-scoring double to Ricardo Joseph and got Tony Taylor to ground out as another run scored before retiring Tony Gonzalez for the final out.

Dick Simpson slammed Woody Fryman's first pitch in the opening inning for a homer and the Astros went on to pin the Philadelphia southpaw with his sixth loss. He has won 10.

Bob Watson singled one run home and Fryman balked an- other across in the second, Jim Wynn's double, a walk, Doug Rader's infield hit and a throw- ing error by Fryman helped Houston add two more runs in the sixth and Denis Menke drilled a two-run single in the seventh.

Marichal Wins 14th

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Willie McCovey's 17th and 18th home runs carried San Francisco past the slumping Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1 Sunday and gave Giants ace Juan Marichal his 14th victory of the season.

It was the Pirates' fourth straight loss.

McCovey sent a first-inning homer soaring onto the roof of the second deck in right field against Pirates starter Jim Bunning.

The big first baseman's sec- ond homer of the game and third in two days went into the right field upper deck in the third, giving the Giants a 2-0 lead and pinning Bunning with his ninth loss in 12 decisions.

Marichal, biggest winner in the majors, scattered eight hits, struck out five and walked only one while bringing his season mark to 14-2.

He blanked the Pirates until the eighth, when Murrey Willis ran his hitting streak to 22 games with a single and raced home on Matty Alou's double off the right field screen.

Reds Sweep Two

CINCINNATI (AP) — Tony Perez raced home with Cin- cinnati's winning run in the 11th in- ning on Tommy Helms' old force out as the Reds defeated Chicago 4-3 and completed a sweep of a Sunday doublehead- er.

Don Pavletich's two-run dou- ble capped a three-run ninth in- ning burst that gave the Reds a 3-8 victory in the opener.

The doubleheader loss extend- ed the Cubs' tailspin to eight setbacks in their last nine games.

Perez and John Bench had singled and Lee May walked, leading the bases with one out in the 11th. Then Helms dropped a short fly to right, Al Spangler, playing in shallow right, fielded the ball and forced Bench at second but Perez raced home with the winning run.

The Reds jumped to a 2-0 lead against Ferguson Jenkins when Perez singled in the second and May hit his seventh homer, Ron Santo's two-run single in the Cubs' third tied it 2-2 and Jen- kins singled home the go-ahead run in the fourth before May singled in a run in the fourth.

Red Sox, Chicago Split

CHICAGO (AP) — Pete Ward drove in five runs and the Chi- cago White Sox rebounded for a 10-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox Sunday after dropping the opener of the doubleheader 6-2.

Chicago piled up 10 runs in the first four innings of the sec- ond game, which was delayed 1 hour 36 minutes by rain. Wilbur Wood, called from the bullpen for his first start, coasted to his fifth victory against two set- backs.

Jim Lonborg, making only his second start, set up the White Sox four-run first inning. Lon- borg threw only five pitches, hitting the first two batters, Luis Aparicio and Wayne Causey, and left the game with a sore right shoulder. He returned to Boston for X-rays.

Chicago then went to work on Lee Stange with Ward's two-run single keying the uprising. Ward added a three-run homer, his ninth, in the second inning.

The White Sox continued their pepping against Darrell Brandon as Duane Josephson hom- ered in the third and drove in his third run with a single in the fourth.

In the opener, Gary Bell drove in a pair of runs with a double and a single and checked Chicago on six hits in breezing to his sixth victory against two losses.

Doubles by Bell and Mike An- drews and a sacrifice fly by Ken Harrison produced three runs in the third inning.

Boston added three more in the fourth to kayo starter Jack Fisher.

Tigers Break Even

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dick Tracewski's first homer of the season, a three-run shot in the fifth inning, powered Detroit to a 4-1 victory over Cleveland Sunday in the second game of a doubleheader. The victory snapped a three-game losing streak for the American League leaders.

It was the fifth home run of Tracewski's major league ca- reer and rallied the Tigers after Cleveland won the opener, 3-0, on Luis Tiant's three-hitter and a two-run double by Joe Azcue before 44,245.

Tracewski connected with two out after Roy Oyler walked and Mickey Stanley was safe on Larry Brown's error.

Starter Sam McDowell was pulled in the sixth when Detroit

Leading the bulky Nicklaus by only one stroke, he laced his shot to the green, it bit and cut to the right, stopping 18 inches from the pin and leaving him with an easy putt for birdie.

Nicklaus, the burly Golden Bear, missed the green and set- tled for a par on the hole, a 67 for the day and second place at 276, two strokes back.

Australian Bruce Crampton had a final round 66 over the 6,792 yard, par 70 St. George Golf Club and finished third at 277.

Charles, a former British Open champion and one-time banker in Christchurch, N.Z., clinched the title with an amazing approach shot on the 18th hole.

Leading the bulky Nicklaus by only one stroke, he laced his shot to the green, it bit and cut to the right, stopping 18 inches from the pin and leaving him with an easy putt for birdie.

Nicklaus, the burly Golden Bear, missed the green and set- tled for a par on the hole, a 67 for the day and second place at 276, two strokes back.

Australian Bruce Crampton had a final round 66 over the 6,792 yard, par 70 St. George Golf Club and finished third at 277.

Tied for fourth at 279 was the quartet of 56-year-old Sam Shead, who had his second con- secutive 68; R.H. Sikes; Tom Weiskopf; and Tommy Aaron, all with 70s.

Defending champion Billy Casper, playing in the same threesome with Charles and Nicklaus, had a 71 for 280 and a tie with Jack Montgomery, a 26-year-old Texan who had the day's best round, 65.

Canadian George Knudson, who had a course record-matching 64 Friday and went into the final round in a tie for first with Charles, had a 73 for 281.

It was only the fourth victory on the PGA circuit for the 6-foot-1, 157-pound Charles and his first of the year. His others were the Houston Classic in 1963, the same year he won the British Open, the Tucson Open in 1965 and last year's Atlanta Classic.

The darkly handsome 32-year-old — who collected first prize money of $25,000 — re- fused to wilt under the pressure of the charging Nicklaus, who tied him twice.

ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Ted Uhlaender slashed five straight hits and Jim Mer- ritt scattered seven hits, pitch- ing the Minnesota Twins to a 6-3 victory over the New York Yan- kees Sunday.

Uhlaender's fourth hit touched off a three-run rally that wrapped it up for the Twins in the seventh. After he singled, Harmon Killebrew doubled and Bob Allison singled for one run. Singles by Frank Quilici and John Roseboro drove in two more.

Stewart Wins Dutch Race

ZANDVOORT, The Nether- lands (AP) — Jackie Stewart of Scotland, driving with his right wrist in a cast, won the Dutch Grand Prix in a French Matra Ford Sunday, giving France its first world championship auto race victory since 1952.

Jean-Pierre Beltoise of France finished second in a Ma- tra and heightened France's comeback in this fifth race of the year counting toward the world championship. Pedro Rodriguez of Mexico was third in a BRM and Jackie Ickx of Belgium fourth in a Ferrari.

Stewart, who injured his wrist during practice for the Spanish Grand Prix last month, was un- able to shake hands with the president of the Dutch Auto Racing Association after the race because of the pain.

The Scot shot into the lead on the fourth lap of the 254.5-mile race and stayed there for the rest of the 90 laps. On the 58th lap Stewart passed second-place Beltoise for a full-lap lead but by the 75th lap Stewart's blue Matra had developed engine trouble.

He nursed the car through the remainder of the race, lost most of his lead and crossed the fin- ish line with the engine misfir- ing.

Angels Win in 9th

ANAHEIM (AP) — Jim Fre- gos's leadoff homer in the ninth inning gave the California An- gels a 3-2 victory over the Balti- more Orioles Sunday.

Fregos lashed a 2-2 pitch by Tom Phoebus for his fifth homer of the year.

The Angels tied the score at 2-2 in the sixth inning when Vic Davalillo tripled to drive in Ed Kirkpatrick, who had delivered a pinch single.

Davalillo was at third base with none out when Fregos loft- ed a medium-deep fly to center; Davalillo tried to score after the catch and was gunned down by Paul Blair's perfect throw.

Nash Shuts Out Nats

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oak- land Athletics erupted for six runs in the first inning Sunday and breezed to a 9-0 victory over hapless Washington behind Jim Nash's four-hitter.

Nash boosted his pitching record to 6-5, in handling the last place Senators their 10th set- back in the last 11 games.

The A's, meanwhile, pounded right-hander Bruce Howard for 12 hits and eight runs in the first five innings. They sent 11 men to the plate and collected seven hits — six of them in succession — in the first, then chased How- ard with three more hits in the fifth.

Only a third inning triple play — second in the American League this year — saved How- ard and the Senators from fur- ther embarrassment.

Russian Swimming Hope Drinking Self Off Team

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet div- er Mikhail Safonov, one of Rus- sia's main hopes for an Olympic swimming gold medal, is in danger of being kicked off the Soviet Olympic team for drunk- enness, a newspaper indicated Sunday.

Komsomolska Pravda, voice of the Communist Youth League, said the European div- ing champion "showed up drunk" at a Soviet competition this spring in the Urals city of Chelyabinsk.

This happened, the paper said, despite the fact that "last year he was sternly reprimand- ed with a warning for violation of training rules," apparently also involving drinking.

The paper did not say what happened to Safonov for the more recent offense but made it clear his status on the Olympic team was now in doubt.

In a wide-ranging criticism of Soviet athletes, the paper said a gymnastics coach named Murav- tov "showed up in an unsobber condition before his students."

It also said a coach and four star members of a Soviet Estoni- an basketball team were de- tained by customs officials upon their return from a game abroad and were found trying to smuggle into the country some unidentified items, apparently western clothing intended for sale on the black market here.

The paper said the five lost their titles of "merited" sports- men—a loss which normally re- sults in withdrawal of privileges such as better apartments.

In the same article, Komsomolska Pravda followed up an earlier article by complain- ing that two soccer stars it ac- cused of misbehavior were in- correctly defended by two sports writers from the Soviet abroad and were found trying to smuggle into the country some unidentified items, apparently western clothing intended for sale on the black market here.

Blackmer, Patch Win, Drivers Run Hard

By DAN PRATZ
BUSTI, N.Y.—It was a thrilling night, here Saturday, as the fast track at Stateline Speedway produced three of the best feature races run this season. It was nip and tuck in all three classes with finishes that brought the huge crowd to its feet.

Jim Scott picked up his first win of the season in the New Car division as he powered his 1968 Torino into the winners circle. Ron Blackmer still remains unbeaten in the Sportsman Class, however, the Youngsville Ace had a tough time moving into first place with several of the point leaders running up front. The Hooligan division saw its biggest night of the season with close to 40 cars entering the competition. Bob Patch once more captured the feature win but found things a little rougher with 37 cars eligible to run in the 25-lap feature.

Johnny Ditch started off the pole in the Late Model feature only to remain in first place for the next 11 laps. However, Ed Faulkner and Scott remained hot on his tail. Faulkner and Scott fought it out for first place for six laps and then finally Scott's Torino surged ahead and began to lap the field running in first place.

Jim Sloan moved from 17th place to first place in the Sportsman feature in record time. Sloan and Blackmer kept the fans on the edge of their seats as they ran neck and neck for the next 14-laps, with Sloan remaining in the lead by inches. However, on the twenty-first lap the Youngsville Ace pulled ahead to capture the win.

The Hooligan drivers once more gave the fans the bang-up-crash-roll-over type of program as they fought hard to earn the prize money in either heat or the feature. More than half of the drivers were piloting autos on the Stateline oval for the first time in their lives. Despite inexperience, the leadfoots provided an exciting feature with the lead passing between four cars in the 25-lap event. Patch made his bid on the 18th-lap after a restart that eliminated half the cars that started. The Sugar Grove pilot was tailed by John Weidmaler for the final nine laps, but Weidmaler was unable to pass and finished second.

Next Saturday will feature a full card of racing with a 13-race program highlighted by three feature races. Results of Saturday night's racing follows:

Carlisle Wins American Trot

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — The way everything seems to be coming up roses for Billy Haughton in harness racing this year it may be that his Carlisle will win the $100,000 Roosevelt International for the United States on July 13.

Carlisle, with Haughton in the sulky, qualified as the U.S. representative in the famed global classic by winning the $50,000 American Trotting Championship at Roosevelt Raceway Saturday night.

"We were lucky to win," Haughton said afterwards, "Carlisle threw his left front shoe on the last turn and broke into a pace after the finish."

"We had to go four wide in the stretch and I didn't dare whip him for fear he would go offside because of the lost shoe. He won on his own courage."

"Right now I don't think he can beat Roquepine in the international, but we're sure going to try," Haughton referred to the 7-year-old French mare who will defend her title in the international.

Carlisle, a 5-year-old stallion by Hickory Pride, won by 1½ lengths over Real Speed in the 1½ mile test with Flamboyant third a head back. Flamboyant, the only filly in the field, raced as an entry with Carlisle.

GOLFING WITH Arnold Palmer
— Golf's first Million Dollar PGA Winner —

RETAIN WRIST COCK INTO HITTING AREA

The so-called "delayed hit" that is so vital for producing distance on golf shots is really nothing more than the preservation of the arm-club angle you had at the top of your swing.

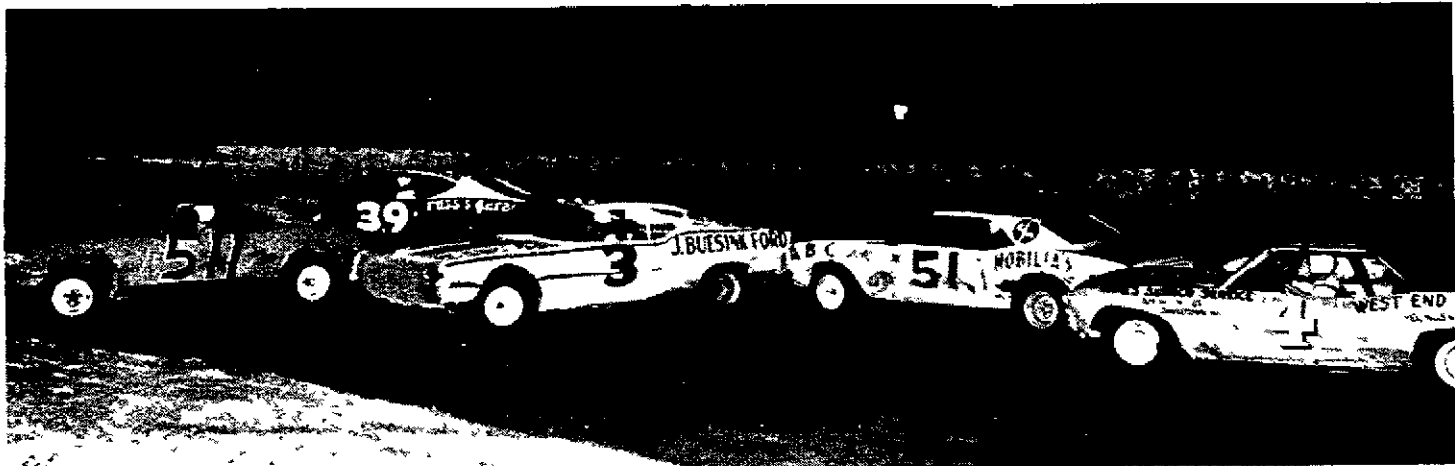

In illustration #1, we see that my left forearm and clubshaft form a 90-degree angle. In illustration #2, I still maintain this same angle well into my downswing.

Only in the hitting area do my wrists unhinge. My left arm and clubshaft then form a straight line at impact.

Try to consciously retain your top-of-swing angle throughout your downswing. You may be surprised with the shots that result.

NUMBERS GAME AT STATELINE

Number 3, the car in the middle, didn't stay in the middle but won the race. This action-reaction shot was shot by Gordon Mahan at Stateline Speedway during the semifinal race for late models. Jim Scott, piloting Number 3, overcame the nudge to win the 25-lap race ahead of 30 other starters. Numbers and drivers of the other jaloopies are: Squirt Johns, 51; John Whitehead, 39; Tom Dill, 51; Ron Blackmer, 4. (Photo by Mahan)

Joe Frazier Defends Title Against Manuel Ramos

NEW YORK (AP) — Unbeaten Joe Frazier defends his five-state piece of the world heavyweight champions HIP against Mexico's Manuel Ramos Monday night in a fight that could be short and explosive.

The television bout at Madison Square Garden is scheduled for 15 rounds but if it lasts as long as eight most everyone will be surprised. This, despite the fact that Frazier has won all of his fights and Ramos never has been floored or stopped.

Frazier, winner of 20 fights, 18 of them by knockouts, is a 4-1 favorite to whip the taller Mexican who has won 15 straight fights. Ramos' record is 20-6-2. All of his losses were during a period when he twice broke his right hand.

The bout will be telecast coast-to-coast and to Mexico by Sports Network. New York and a 90-mile area around the city will be blacked out of the telecast.

Starting time is 9:30 p.m., EDT.

Ramos has looked bad in most of his workouts, which hasn't helped the box office sales.

Harry Markson, director of boxing for the Garden, said he expected a crowd of upwards of 10,000 to pay more than $100,000 at the gate at prices ranging from $5 to $40. It could go as high as $150,000 with a good last day sale.

Frazier, recognized as world champion by New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Massachusetts and Maine, will get 40 per cent and Ramos 20 per cent of the net gate and television receipts.

Williams Takes Grand Prix

MONZA, Italy (AP) — Jonathan Williams of Britain drove his Brabham to victory Sunday in the Monza Grand Prix formula-two race that was plagued by a smashup involving seven of the 22 cars in the field.

Williams was clocked in one hour, 14 minutes, 9.8 seconds, an average speed of 130 miles per hour for the 160-mile race.

Two more Britons, Alan Rees in a Brabham and Robin Widdows in a McLaren, were second and third.

About halfway through the race three Ferrari Dino cars collided and burst into flames. The other four cars apparently smashed into the wreckage.

The driver of one of the other four cars, Jean Pierre Jassaud of France, was the only one seriously injured.

Jassaud was flown to Niguarda Hospital of Milan in a helicopter as fire squads rushed to the scene to put out the fire.

A hospital spokesman said Jassaud suffered a skull concussion, multiple fractures of his ribs and left knee and cuts of the wrist and chin.

Doctors said it would take Jassaud several months to recover.

According to eyewitnesses, Jassaud's car hit a car ahead of him as it skidded at the exit of the parabolic curve. The French driver was hurled from his car.

Derek Bell of Britain left his car slightly limping but apparently did not suffer serious injuries.

The other drivers escaped unhurt.

There are a lot of good cars you can get for $3400. This is two of them.

If you don't happen to need two cars, there's only one thing that you need less. One car that costs as much as two cars.

Unless you want to pay a lot of money for a lot of horsepower that you'll never use. There's only one state in the country where you can go faster than a Volkswagen—Nevada. (No speed limit—they're big gamblers out there.)

The only extra horsepower you really need is for all those power gadgets. Which you need to drive a car that size. Which has to be that size to hold all those horses.

All of which also makes the average car cost almost as much to run as two Volkswagens. Considering a VW gets as much as 27 miles to a gallon of gas.

But if you're still not sold on the idea of two bugs for the price of one beast, why not take advantage of this special introductory offer. One Volkswagen for half the price of two.

Brenda Speeds to Open Atlantic

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tropical storm Brenda became a full-fledged hurricane Sunday and sped northeastward in the open Atlantic, a danger only to shipping.

A Navy reconnaissance plane reported the center of Brenda at noon (EDT) was near latitude 35.3 north and longitude 67.5 west or about 260 miles northwest of Bermuda.

Ship reports and the ESSA 2 satellite confirmed the position, the Weather Bureau reported.

Brenda had winds up to 75 miles per hour near the center with gales reaching out 200 miles to the northeast and 100 miles to the southwest.

No important change in size or intensity was expected as Brenda sped toward the northeast at 15 to 20 miles per hour—fast for a hurricane—and forecasters Gil Clark said it would likely turn more to the east northeast with a slightly faster forward speed in the next 24 hours.

"The future track indicates that Hurricane Brenda will not affect Bermuda, that it is headed for the open Atlantic, and is currently of interest only to shipping," Clark said.

Circulation developed in a large cloudy, showery area in the western Gulf of Mexico and tropical storm Candy was born.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau said Candy was centered near latitude 26.0 north and longitude 95.5 west or about 60 miles east of Brownsville, Texas, at noon (CDT) Sunday, moving toward the north northwest at about 15 miles per hour.

Winds of 40 to 50 miles per hour in heavier squalls were expected as Candy moved inland near Corpus Christi, Texas. Squalls extended out 100 miles to the north and east of the center and tides of two to four feet were expected from Corpus Christi to Galveston as Candy moved inland.

Informal Classrooms Recommended

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Can a student learn more sprawling on a deep-pile carpet than sitting in a conventional lecture hall?

Yes, says a California Institute of Technology psychology professor.

Prof. John Weir says the school's first informal classroom has been reserved for every available daytime class period and three nights each week since it was redecorated last fall.

Prior to the change, the room was in use only six hours a week.

The change included installation of a gold carpet, colored chairs, colorful ceiling panels to deflect overhead lighting and loosely woven white draperies.

Students in biology, logic, English, mathematics and psychology classes gather informally around the professor in the chairs or may sit on the carpet if they prefer.

Weir said faculty members answering questionnaires about the room indicated there was a greater level of student participation in classes held in the informal surroundings.

procedures and provide that the cost of the containers be figured in milk prices, plus eliminate requirement that persons buying milk directly from the farm supply own containers. (Allen—Yes);
